Mistaken Identity Like the good citizen you are, when the chest X-ray bus came to town, you stepped up and had your annual chest picture taken. You felt perfectly well, but you had learned that people can have tuberculosis without knowing it. You didn't feel so good when you got the report. You were advised to have another larger X-ray. Did that mean you had TB after all? You didn't waste any time getting to your doctor. It was tough waiting to find out what the big X-ray would show. And there was a shadow, allright. The doctor pointed it out on the film. You hit bottom. TB—a hospital—what about the family—

"Now don't rush off", the doctor ordered. "We've a lot more things to find out before we decide. I'll tell you frankly it looks like TB, but it could be a case of mistaken identity."

You learned some new words. The doctor explained that there are at least ten other conditions that can sometimes be confused with TB: pulmonary fibrosis, bronchiectaiss, histoplasmosis, coccidioidomycosis, and some more names you couldn't pronounce, much less spell. You learned that skin tests, including a tuberculun test, serologic tests, biopsy, and more X-ray could betaken to find out for sure.

The doctor started by getting a history of places you had lived all your life. Some fungus diseases resembling TB on X-ray are prevalent in certain areas of the country, he explained. He might get a clue. And he did. The tests checked out.

You've since learned how to spell and pronounce histoplasmosis your legacy from the Middle West. You had a benign case—one that didn't bother you—some time ago. behind to give you a few bad

You learned quite a lot from the experience—a lot about modrn scientific diagnosis, about fungus disease, about how it feels to face tuberculeris, and how good
