This is election week. Today, many states have new governors, new congressional representatives and new legislative bodies within the states. Let's brush up on some facts and figures about this voting facts may be news to you. The word "ballot" comes from the Italian word "ballotta" meaning "little ball" which was the earliest form of voting. Other early ballots consisted of beans and corn from American colonists while the ancient Greeks used shells and olive leaves. This is the 40th anniversary of -women's-suffrage-in-New York State. Citizens of Georgia and Kentucky can vote at the age of 18. A Vermont law requires votters to be "of quiet and peaceful behavior." Did you know that in 1775, less than 20% of the colonists had the right to vote and as late as 1891, people in Kentucky still voted by voice?

Josef Stalin never lost an election. The indifference of the Germans and Italians to the vote was one of the foundation of facism under Hitler and Mussolini. You are eligible to vote on class projects and in various organizations. Exercise this privilege now you'll soon be a responsible citizen. The larger the vote, the by Jean Updyke This week, November 3 through November 10 is National Book school library will have on display several new books that may be taken out after two weeks.

Here are some of the books that you will see in the library this week: "Inside Russia Eat the Daisies", and two sports stories "Floorburns" and "The 23rd St. Crusaders". For the younger children there are many books to choose from also: "Into the Ark", "The Chipmurk That Went to Church" "The Man in the Manhole". "Gabhit the Magic Rabbitt", and Hero by Mistake' 'are just a few. How about going into the library sometime this week or next to see all the new books. There are over 5,000 books in the library by Ann Cannon Due to difficuties beyond their control the J. V.'s and Varsity cheerleaders cannot start work on their jumpers. The corduroy has not yet arrived.

Last week the J. V.s decided on their pattern which will be a princess style jumper with a gored skirt. But they have not been able to find blouses as yet.

The Varsity has been more fortunate because they have decided on their pattern blouse and a new addition. The Varsity jumper "Chemise" in style. Their jumpers are to have a square neckline. a dropped waistline with a belt at their hips and rleats starting at the hip line.

The Varsity blouses have been picked out but the cheerleaders tle different because they are wool and orlon jersey. They are very plain with a large collar with two buttons at the neck and three
