Is There Such A Thing As A Snob?

by Lee Kessler

What's your opinion? Are you the type that sorts everyone into classes, such as those who are snob and those who aren't?

When we begin to shy away from someone because he's a snob, we should look at his side of it a minute. Perhaps he feels left out, but can't find a way to make friend, or perhaps he doesn't like showy or noisy people.

Whenever we start to cross someone off our list of possible friends because he gave us the snob treatment we should consider these things. Is there a personal problem bothering him, or are our extrovert tendencies displeasing to him?

Books Presented To The School Library

by Mattie Howland

Two books were given in memory of George Hubbell, brother of Mrs. Florence Greene, school nurse, by Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Avery and Mr. and Mrs. James

"The Pool of Knowledge" by Katherine B. Shippen is a book on how the United Nations share their skill.

"We" by M. Scott Carpenter, L. Gordon Cooper, Jr., John Glenn, Jr., Virgil I. Grissom, Walter M. Sherra, Jr., Alan B. Shepard, Jr., Donald K. Slayton.

This book is by the astronauts themselves. The story shares the exciting experience of the first Americans in space.

Senior Interview

Robert James Dougherty, better known as Bob, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Dougherty. He has three brothers, William, Charles and John.

Bob was treasurer of his freshman class. Last year, he was Student Council Representative.

This year, Bob is president of the Student Council. He has been a member of chorus for three years. Camera Club for four years and on the Hi Herald Staff for four years.

Bob has many favorites. Among these are: food, turkey; color, red; subject, physics; pastime, reading; sport, basketball.

After graduation, Bob plans to go to Cornell University and become an economist.

We of the Soil Conservation District are looking forward to another year. Dry? Wet? Normal?

Girls' State

by Lynn Cable

Penny Hames, a junior in Andover Central School, has been picked for Girls' State. This is sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary.

Congratulations Penny! We know you will benefit from this wonderful experience.

Junior Red Cross

by Mary Ellen Corwin

Our latest project concerns making favors for trays. The favors will go to the Wellsville and Hornell hospitals.

The members of the Junior Red Cross are making designs for the favors. After all are in, we will vote on which design to use.

Teen Talk

by Jackie Conde

Many teenagers, when they get together, just like to sit and discuss their ideas and problems. One teenager came up with this problem. "I feel that my parents expect too much of me."

There's really no simple answer to this. The trouble is, there's a fine line between inspiring and encouraging one to do his best and "putting the pressure on."

Most parents know their children's capabilities and want them to measure up to them fairly well. This does not mean that they may not pressure a little, for they just want us to do our best for our sake, not theirs.
