News That's Print To Fit

We were very saddened the other day to hear of the illness of a very good friend of ours with whom we have hunted deer for many years on their family farm near Whitesville.

Nate is a prince of a fellow and made news in this column last deer season when he proceeded to tell a Bu! Talo hunter what kind of a sportsman he was when the guy shot a deer in front of Fred Updyke who was a member of our hunting party.

Since he has lived around this area all his life we thought that maybe several of his friends might like to drop he and his wife a line while he is at the hospital Cleveland. The address is: Nathan Edwards Room 351

We know that when people are away from home they like to hear what is going on and when they are alone in a strange city with worries on their minds a cheery ote could be like a ray of sun-

All your friends at home are wishing you a speedy, recovery Just as we go to press we are informed by a phone call from Mrs. Edwards that Nate will be leaving for home tomorrow, where he will take medication fo severa months before returning to the hospital for further tests. With all of the local accidents and sickness it looks as if they will almost have to put an Andove wing on the Jones Memorial Hospital. With Mrs. Backus, a member of our staff in the hospital for a gall bladder operation it has slowed us down considerable with this week's News so it may a little leter getting into the there will be a panel discussion Post Office—so please have pa-

> Speaking of accidents reminds us that a word of warning is certainly in order for all motorists and pedestrians to be extra careful from now until spring arrives is we-may be taking winter a little too much for granted and are becoming a bit careless. With two well known local women in the hospital with broken bones as a result of a fall, a person just can't be too careful. W. are speaking from experience which is rather rough on the system, and both our falls resulted from trying to hurry. The feminine half of our partnership hade a perfect three point landing is the Bank after slipping as a result of having snow on her shoes, while yours truly made the same kind of landing in front of our house while crossing a small patch of snow covered ice. SO BEWARE! We have been a staunch supporter of the program to install seat belts in all of our automobiles but it almost looks as if we missed bet and should advocate safety belts on bar stools. We hear that last Friday somethink like this might have saved all the commotion which brought the local Fire Department, Ambulance, Doctor and Police as well as. the State Police into the act.

According to reports one Andrew Oleshak from Jamestown. who has prior history of heart trouble according to his friends, had a spell at a local establishment which resulted in all of the above activity with him being rushed to Wellsville by amublance. However so far we haven't been able to find any information
