Local Ambulance Hit Broadside On Mercy Run

A local ambulance owned and operated by James F. Mulholland was struck broadside Tuesday by a two ton stake truck owned and operated by Marshall Owen, 46, of Akron at the intersection of Rts. 15 and 5 & 20 in East Avon while on a mercy run to the Strong Memorial Hospital in Rochester.

According to Mr. Mulholland and other witnesses the light was green as the ambulance approached the intersection with siren screaming and changed to caution after entering the intersection when it was struck broadside by the truck. Fortunately he was able to keep the ambulance under control and manager to avoid hitting a State Police car nearby as well as a row of trees at the site.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Taylor of Andover, in an incubator, was not injured or even awakened by the crash. However the nurse, Sally Florence of Canisteo, received a bruised right elbow and "Jim" sustained contusions and abrasions of the scalp and lacerations of the left hand.

Mr. Taylor, who with his wife were following the ambulance, was the first person to reach the wreck and check on the safety of his son and the other occupants. They were then provided with a police escort as they rushed the baby to the Rochester Hospital.

Mr. Mulholland remained at the Avon State Police Barracks until the emergency run was completed and then returned to the Bethesda Hospital where he remained overnight for observation and X-rays.

An ironical situation arose as a result of the accident for apparently an observer at the scene called in some information to Radio Station WKBW, which then flashed it on the air many minutes before Mr. Mulholland's mother, Mrs. James B. Mulholland could be notified.

Andover Frogmen Make It Four In A Row

Last Thursday afternoon Andover's Swimming Squad won their fourth meet in a row by topping Nables Central School 64-30 in a scintillating performance.

Probably the most pleasing feature of the meet was the fact that every member of Andover's Squad scored points in the events they were entered in. For the first time in the team's short history—both relay teams won.

Tonight, Andover travels to Wayland for probably their toughest meet of the season. Wayland is the only school so far this year that has been successful in wringing a victory from the local boys, so this promises to be an exciting meet tonight!

Also, an additional piece of good news for all of the local swim enthusiasts, is the announcement that recent arrangements have been made for one more final home meet.

This extra meet is scheduled for Saturday evening, March 2nd with Lakemont Academy, a private school from up Watkins-Glen way.

News That's Print To Fit

Brrr-r-r! What a change in the weather! Yesterday the thermometer stood around 32. According to the recording thermometer at the Andover Pump Station, early this morning it got down to -7 degrees below zero, then warmed to 6 above and at 2 P. M. stands right at ZERO! who was that feller that said he was going to tap his sugar bush soon?

If he does, we wonder how he would market maple icicles and what method he could use to get the sap running. Perhaps he could get some of these local torrid tamales, whose unmentionables are so warm that they burn up when they hit the dryers, to stand around the trees and warm them up so the sap will flow. Suppose they could be used to warm up the evaporators also?

With "Rocky" going to the people via Television to push his Auto License Tax "Fee" seems like we people ought to get in on a closed circuit TV program to tell him and our legislators what we think of the program. The reason for the closed circuit TV program would be so that we wouldn't corrupt the language of the tiny tots or gentle ladies that might not understand some of the language that might be used. 10-4?

In mentioning communication language reminds us that we saw one of our local Thespians, (or should we say hams?) trucking down Main St., with quite a load—on his two wheel truck, and knowing that the local compact police car was being stretched out, wrung out, or getting its face lifted—(guess it was the other end, but it wouldn't look so good in print), we decided to do our civic duty and asked to see his registration and chauffeur's license for this type of vehicle. It sure looked like we had a live one going as he couldn't produce any of the necessary papers and it seemed as if we had another candidate for the Andover "Court of Fame" but alas—he put on a burst of speed, wheeled right up to the Post Office and mailed the evidence out before any action could be taken.

While talking about cars—we hear that the "Editor Feller" took a ride in a mountain climbing wagon the first of the week and ended up stranded on top of old snowbank" all covered with snow. After coming to a sleighing stop it looked for a minute as if a parachute was going to be needed, but after unfastening the safety belts both passengers were able to slide down the seat chute to safety.

For a few minutes it looked as if they had been "bad boys" and were going to have to walk home as the summoned tow truck didn't show up but—after a short wait—the good Samaritans started showing up by the dozen so—after a short ride to Jasper with an old friend to arrange for a wrecker, and an accommodating phone call for a sure ride home, all that had to be done was to wait for further developments.

In order to break the monotony during the waiting period a survey was conducted which elicited the fact that out of all the motorists that passed, only one didn't slow down or stop to see if they could be of assistance. In fact we hear that the Editor is still bemoaning the fact that he didn't get the phone number of one of the very sympathetic motorists that offered assistance so she could have been thanked more fully, as she was really a living doll—and driving a Cadillac no less.

Happy to report, no one was injured, and a good fender bender—have things looking like new again.

Speaking of the police car reminds us that we see "Matt" Di-

Salutatorian

Fee Increase Issue Still Not Settled

Here is what the massive automobile fee increase proposed by Governor Rockefeller would mean to New York State Motorists according to the New York State Automobile Association:

The proposed new scale to register a passenger car:

- Cars weighing less than 3,000 pounds, such as Volkswagens and other small foreign models as well as light domestic compacts ----- $20
- Fords, Chevrolets, Plymouths and other full-size cars weighing 3,001 to 4,000 pounds, as well as heavier compacts $25
- Large Buicks, Oldsmobiles, Chryslers and other cars weighing between 4,001 and 5,000 pounds ----- $35
- Cadillacs, Lincolns, Imperials and limousines ----- $45

Commercial vehicle registration taxes will be increased 20 per cent.

If you don't believe in this "Fee" increase why not notify your State Senator or State Assemblyman immediately!
