RESPECT FOR PROPERTY

Many times in the halls, we see books being knocked out of someone's hands, or falling from a stacked locker. These incidents may seem humorous at the time, but are they so funny? It is always laughable to see papers spill out and glide over the floor, and perhaps an occasional page coming loose. However, such pages coming loose, add to the wear-and-tear on the book. Moreover, books are extensively damaged by frequent droppings. It is fine if we wish to damage OUR books, but the books we use in school are not our property—for this reason only, we should take proper care of the things the school provides for us. A book may seem a small matter, but by respecting the property of others now, we'll cultivate respect for personal property, which will be helpful to us in future years. So the next time your tempted to knock a book from someone's hands, think of these things, and grow up, by showing a little respect for the property of others.

Did You Know?

When we study George Washington in American History, it is hard to believe that he was not just a legend. Here are some interesting facts about him: Did you know that, as a schoolboy, Washington liked arithmetic but had a hard time with spelling? When he was nineteen, he went to the West Indies. There in Barbados he became ill with smallpox and was disfigured for the rest of his life. He was called the "American Cincinnatus" since he left his plantation to command the Continental Army and returned to Mt. Vernon after defeating the British. In 1791, he was made an honorary French citizen for being "one of the benefactors of mankind." Although Congress was considering having Washington execute Cornwallis, Washington and Cornwallis treated each other cordially and toasted to each other's health at a banquet.

Senior Interview

Each week one of our seniors has a chance to be interviewed and recognized. This week it is Mattie Howland, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson R. Howland of R. D. 2, Wellsville. Born July 30, 1945, in Wellsville, Mattie has three brothers, Martin, Norman and James and one sister, Jennie. Mattie has majored in Math and Science throughout high school. She has also been active in several activities. She has been in Hi Herald for four years; Library Council for two years; Orchestra for three years; and G.A.A. for one year. For three years she has been a member of the National Honor Society. In both the Junior and senior plays, Mattie was a prompter. She also played the part of Linda in the Senior Play. Mattie's pet peeve is "People who think they know everything", and her philosophy of life is "you can get what you want if you really work for it." Her favorites include: food, Italian foods, color, blue; subject, Latin; pastime, day-dreaming; and sport, volleyball. Mattie plans on getting married this June.

Senior News

The Senior Class is having a Candy Sale Thursday, Activity Period. Don't forget that the seniors are still selling Yearbook subscriptions. You can purchase one with only a dollar down and two dollars when they arrive. What better way to remember the students and future leaders of your town? In the near future we are going to be selling light bulbs and stationery.

Private Eye

Hi Ho Andoverites! Here I am again after uncovering valuable information with the aid of my spy glass. It seems that James and Victoria had a tiff Friday night. How 'bout that Charles? Lee had a guest for dinner Saturday night. Could it have been D. S.-from Fillmore? Also Saturday night at the dance were Bob V., Jack, Dan S., Bill F., Jim C., Bill and Jeannie, Penny, Sheila Pat, Sharon, Celia, Diane, Joe Eddie Charlie, Knubby, Jane and Bob to name just a few. That same night Bonnie and Vicki went to a parade in Nunda. Where did you stop afterwards, girls? Hey Doug! Who was that somebody you were waiting for in the show Sunday afternoon? Saw Alice's hair freeze in Niagara Falls Saturday night. Who were you three buddies, Alice? Thats about all for this week, chaps. Cherrio!!! Dr. Watson

FHA Tea

A Tea was given Friday, February 15th by the FHA in honor of Miss Lynn Cable. At this time Lynn was presented the Betty Crocker Homemaking Award for the highest score on the examination given on December 4th to all the Senior girls. Lynn was also awarded a pin. She is now eligible to compete in another examination to determine the State Homemaker of Tomorrow. Refreshments were enjoyed by all the Senior girls and the FHA members.

Teen Talk

These were the results in a survey conducted on the subject of "Your Idea of the Ideal Parent". The main traits a teen-ager likes in a parent are:
1. The ideal parent should be understanding of the problems and feelings of his teen-agers.
2. Another trait is trust. A child must feel that he is trusted before he can respect his parents' judgement.
3. The all-important trait is, of course, love. All other traits stem from love.
4. Firmness and gentleness not strictness are also important in the ideal parent.
