Ralph Williams Honored In Alfred Alumni News

The following is an excerpt taken from the Spring Issue of Alfred University Alumni News: "My most unforgettable teacher? That's easy. It was Ralph C. Williams (35), a former Baldwin High School Science Teacher," said Robert Earle, Moderator of the CBS G.E. College Bowl.

He wasn't interested in teaching, he was interested in our learning—he must have done the same experiment a hundred times but each time he seemed to be making a new discovery.

Earle was inspired to name his own favorite teacher after learning that 58,000 high school students have to date requested entry blanks for the College Bowls nationwide essay-writing contest. "My Most Unforgettable Teacher. I learned more than general science from Mr. William, Earle said. "For one thing he treated us as individuals not as faceless members of a class."

Ralph Williams, a native of Andover, also a Alfred University graduate of 1935, is a brother of Mrs. Alvin Hoover and he and his wife, a teacher in a Baldwin Elementary School, live at 788 North William St., Baldwin.
