Greenwood Central School News

Grades 5-12 at the Greenwood Central School were present at an assembly recently sponsored by the New York Company. Mr. Gordon Goodyear, a representative from that company, explained many of the futures and functions of the communication satellites, Telstar and Echo. He also explained the use of new telephone devices and what the Bell System plans to do to meet the needs of communication in the future.
A short film was shown relating to Telstar.

Harlan Waters, Chief Mechanic of Greenwood Central School was guest speaker before an eighth grade Social Studies class. Waters spoke to the class about Florida and especially the St. Augustine area where he and his wife, Christine, vacationed.

He placed emphasis upon American Heritage stressing the history of the area and the parts played by the forts.

A question and answer period followed.
The class was in charge of Mrs. Inez Sutton, Junior High School teacher.

Good Will Tour

spring, 300 pounds of a complete fertilizer (12-18-18) in summer and 40 units of N in late summer. Farm organizations — most all farmers belong to National Farmers Union but about 7 percent attend the meetings. 4 people elected per community. The 32 representatives from the 8 communities per region elect two people to the national policy making body.

Most of his buildings are 100 years old. Planning board zoning gives him trouble on modernizing. He couldn't build a modern barn back in center of farm where he would like to. Present barns are brick and limestone.

Cows sell for $218.49 up to $238.00. He has been paying about $238.00. Land sells from $280 to $560 per A. Order of harvest—winter oats, spring barley, winter wheat, and spring oats. Alfalfa not very common.
Ph.—6 He adds "chalk." Rain-fall 20 to 24"—well distributed.

Random Impressions and Notes about England

1. Many hedges (holly and hawthorne) and no corn.
2. Cows and sheep grazing together.
3. Telephone and electric wires underground.
4. Narrow canals running cross country with small barges moving produce, etc.
5. Open hay storages with only a roof.
6. Store prices not much out of line with U. S. prices but wages are lower, hence a lower standard of living.
7. Brick houses, many flowers in neat, well kept beds; narrow roads.

To Be Continued Next Week

the Book of John in the Morning Worship, the pastor will be bringing the message from the fourth and fifth chapters of John. The subject will be Christ the healer.
A warm welcome awaits you as you come and worship with us.
