Allegany County Host To These Visitors

Allegany County was certainly a good host to this three man party of hunters that were fortunate enough to bag their legal limit in the first two days of the big game season.

The three men came down to Andover Sunday evening, went out Monday morning and got one buck and then went back to the same place the next morning and nailed three more bucks, returning to Andover by 11:00 a. m. with their unusual catch.

Maurice Donabella of Oswego, scored first, Monday morning around 7:30 a. m., by getting a 4-point buck while one of the other members of the party went all day without seeing a deer and the other member observing many doe but no bucks.

All three of the hunters went out bright and early Tuesday morning and Maurice, who was now wearing his party permit band, again scored first around 7:30 with a 6-point buck in the same area he had shot his previous one.

Edward Yarus, of Rochester, shot his 4-point buck around 7:35 and Joseph Chrzan of Albion, nailed his spike buck around 8:15. Thus they were back in Andover around 11:00 a. m., with their car loaded down with three bucks which they had field dressed in the woods.

According to the hunters, all four deer were taken with each of them getting his deer with just one shot each.

Maurice has been coming down here for around the last 10 years and has been lucky enough to land a deer five different years.

Ed has been coming down to the Hotel here in Andover for the last 12 years and has the record of 7 deer over this period of time, with this year's catch making it 5 successful years in a row.

Jo has been coming down to this area for the last 4 years and has bagged a deer the last three years and was lucky enough to get a wild turkey in this area around 3 years ago.

An interesting point in their hunt is the fact that Ed got his deer Tuesday at the same place that Maurice shot his the previous day and at the same range. When paced off, the distance proved to be a range of 26 yards according to the hunters. Mr. Yarus uses a 16 gauge shotgun while the other two hunters rely on 12 gauge guns.

Another interesting item is that the buck that Mr. Chrzan shot traveled a distance of 50 feet after being shot directly thru the heart. This could easily explain why dead deer are sometimes found in the woods after hunting season as they some times travel quite a distance after being mortally wounded, and the hunters evidently think they missed the mark and give up the chase.

The boys report seeing at least 10 doe in the hour and ten minutes that they were afield Tuesday morning.

News That's Print To Fit

We see that a new industry in town is going into competition with the local silk mill. We wish your wife a lot of luck "Eddy"—just as long as you don't hire our loom fixers and weavers away from us.

We understand that Firemen Fox and Carmody were pupils at a recent "Fire School" and learned "how not to fight fires" from instructor "Jum" Emery.

It seems that Merle and Ki were on one side of the remains of the Livermore mansion fire and "Jum" was on the other side with a good size hose spraying it on the fire.

Whether by accident, chance or otherwise, Emery's aim was a little too high on one occasion and Merle and Ki are reported as having "a soaking good time" at the fire and were really "all wet" on their course of instruction.

This reminds us that this morning we rounded the corner of Main and Rochambeau and noticed what appeared to be an abandoned car in the middle of the road.

However on closer examination we found that a large occupant jumped into the driver's seat and proceeded to tell us off. Since he refused to produce his license on request, we figured that it had better be reported to the local law since Fred should be able to get along better with a "police dog" than we are.

The only hitch to our plans came though, when Merle fastened onto the "junkie" and towed it away.

According to a report, the police dog sitting in the driver's seat really wasn't telling us off previously but instead, that when properly translated he was merely telling us that the battery cable had broken on the car and that was why it wouldn't run.

How about it Merle? Maybe you could make a trusty helper out of her for your station.

Speaking of Rochambeau Ave., reminds us that evidently the citizens "lover in Canada" have paid their entry fee to the "confused states of Andover" as we saw the Village crew picking up the leaves down "that-a-way" last week.

However, according to one report there were a lot of leaves up on our side of town still along the street even after "Canada" was taken care of. Must be "Trusty Lyle" wields more power than some of the village bored members on our side of the tracks.

The old adage "if you don't succeed—try, try again" certainly was proven out as we understand a resident of Rochambeau Ave., was successful in her fourth attempt and as a result the Baker residence is sporting a newly licensed auto operator. How about it Charlene?

With deer season well under way we have reports of several people getting deer which include a couple huntresses Betty Bixby and Ruth Milligan. These two gals have certainly had better luck than some of the rest of us that haven't even had a shot at one.

Along with these reports we also have heard other reports such as horse being shot on Davis Hill; a hunter's car being parked in a farmer's posted meadow where he happened to be spreading manure, and the car being "covered all over with—sweet violets"; a hunter with a Buffalo license offering one of the local lads $100 for the buck he was hauling out of the woods; and of course the usual report of a "City Gang" taking a deer away from a local lone hunter.

However, the thing that shakes us up the most is the manner in

Annual Firemen's Dance Next Wednesday

The Annual Firemen's Thanksgiving Dance, which will be held Wednesday, November 27th at the school, is the Department's Fund-Raising Project and members will canvass the village and town Friday night to promote ticket sales.

Co-chairman Ken Vars and Jim Jackson have arranged with the Grand Square Dance Club of Wellsville for an intermission western-type square dance demonstration. Western square dancing is very interesting to watch and should prove to be the big attraction it was at the Firemen's Dance a few years ago when the Club performed at intermission.

Music, both round and square will be furnished by the Herb Leonard Orchestra. There will be door prizes, as in past years.

which a few hunters completely ignore a farmer's posted signs and not only trespass on his land but even refuse to leave when he is ordered to. This happened Monday with us being present at the time and in addition to this we caught two other hunters on posted property after they had killed a deer with a party permit there.

They said that they were farmers themselves and didn't mean any harm but were just out for a good time. They claimed that they didn't see any posted signs but what we can't understand is how they could see a deer good enough to shoot it and still not be able to see anything as large as a posted sign, especially when they drove right by several of them. Oh well they were all reported so we imagine that they will learn to read better in the future—if and when they are allowed to buy another hunting licence in the future.

For the information of all hunters and landowners: A hunting license does not give anyone the right to hunt on private property whether posted or not. THE HUNTER MUST GET PERMISSION FROM THE PROPERTY OWNER BEFORE HUNTING ON PRIVATE PROPERTY.

If the Hunter is trespassing on private land that is not posted—HE STILL MUST LEAVE WHEN TOLD TO BY THE OWNER AND if he refuses—he is then liable for arrest.

If the land IS POSTED—he can be arrested for trespassing and fined in accordance with the Conservation Laws.

The Hunter ALSO MUST SHOW HIS HUNTING LICENSE AS WELL AS HIS BIG GAME TAG TO ANYONE THAT REQUESTS TO SEE—If he refuses to do so he can be arrested on this count also and fined in addition to his other counts.

Furthermore—a property owner has the right to use whatever force is necessary, to eject a trespasser from his property after he has refused to leave, but no more force than is necessary.

What a farmer or property owner should, or could do when he sees a Hunter Trespassing or violating the Conservation Law: (1) Call either the Game Protector, (2) the State Police, or in the event of being unsuccessful to contact these people, (3) he could call the nearest Law Enforcement Agency IMMEDIATELY and report it.
