New Billy Graham Film "Century 21"

"We cannot build the 21st century with scientific instruments alone. There is another dimension, the dimension of the Spirit."

We must come back to God as a people if we are to go into the 21st century with the human race intact."

With these timely words, Evangelist Billy Graham keynotes the sound, color motion picture, "Billy Graham at Century 21," filmed by World Wide Pictures, producers of such award-winning motion pictures as "Shadow of the Boomerang," "The Heart is a Rebel," and "Decade of Decision."

The setting for "Century 21" is the Seattle World's Fair. Billy Graham's message and documented response to his closing invitation rank as one of the most powerful sequences which has ever been filmed of the Evangelist in action. The viewer readily identifies himself with the raptly attentive Seattle audience, as the picture climaxes in the form of a challenge to all who stand on the threshold of the Space Age.

"Billy Graham at Century 21" will be shown on Sunday evening, November 24th, at 7:30 p. m. at the First Baptist Church, Andover, N. Y. The public is cordially invited. Admission is free.
