In England on January 6, which is called Twelfth Night or Twelfth Day, the king offers gold, frankincense and myrrh at the altar in the Chapel Royal at St. James's Palace.

The feast originated and is still recognized in the Eastern Church, as the anniversary of the baptism of Christ. In the Western Churches, Epiphany commemorates the revelation to the Gentiles of Christ as the Savior.

Epiphany is the end of the Christmas season and perhaps an unofficial beginning of the New Year. January 6 which has sometimes been called "Little Christmas", is the day when gifts are exchanged in some countries.
