Farm Milk Price Is Set At $4.52

A Uniform farm price of $4.62 per hundredweight (46.5 quarts) will be paid for milk delivered to pool handlers in the New York-New Jersey milkshed in December, Dr. A. J. Pollard, associate market administrator, has announced. The November price was $4.66; $4.36 per hundredweight was paid in December, 1962.

The December producer butterfat differential was computed at 54 cents for each pound of fat above or below the 3.5 percent standard.

In announcing the price, Dr. Pollard reported that receipts from producers declined 4.92 percent from the previous year but consumption of fluid milk rose by less than one percent. Production totaled 900,596,300 pounds, 46,580,424 pounds under the 0.45-1.76-7.24 pounds delivered by dairy farmers in December, 1962. Fluid milk sales amounted to 477,666,752 pounds, 3,045,078 pounds more than the 474,621,674 pounds consumed the preceding year.

Fluid milk sales comprised 50.10 percent of the December pool, compared to 50.10 percent in December, 1962. The price handlers paid for fluid milk in the 201-210 mile zone was $5.72 per hundredweight.

Recipe File

Cleaning your recipe file is a pleasant indoor task for a wintry day, says Cathryn R. Bernstein, home demonstration agent for Allegany County Extension Service.

Put into your permanent file only those recipes you have tried and found satisfactory. Untried recipes and menus are seldom quick and only clutter up a permanent file.

Check each recipe to see if it includes the yield, the pan size, baking temperature, and baking time. Does it list the ingredients in order of use and give directions in the actual work sequence?

It is also helpful if descriptive terms such as "shredded" and "cut" are included in the recipe. If the process is carried out before measuring, the term should be listed before the ingredient; if after measuring, then the term should come after the ingredient.

HAPPENINGS

Local Interest

Allegany County Board of Supervisors have confirmed the appointment of Mrs. Jerome J. Dean of Wellsville as a Commissioner of Election, the first woman to serve in this position in memory.

Icy conditions of the highways in Allegany and Steuben Counties made driving conditions hazardous, Sunday. Many accidents and car damages were reported during the day. Loose snow over ice or glass-smooth packed snow isn't new conditions to drivers in this area.

The Rev. Earl L. Winters, executive secretary of the Genesee Methodist Conference Board of Education since 1964, has been appointed district superintendent of the Olean District of the conference, effective February 1. The new superintendent fills the vacancy caused by the death earlier this month of the Rev. Cecil F. Wilson. Olean District with its headquarters at 206 North 4th St., Olean, comprises 71 Methodist Churches.

Members of the LL Bridge Club were guests at a 7:30 bridge dinner at the home of Mrs. John Nobles Thursday evening. Honors were presented Mrs. Kenneth Bostwick, Mrs. Frank Holmes, and Mrs. Fay E. Boyd.

Kitchen Conference Monthly Meeting Held

The regular monthly meeting of the Southeastern Kitchen Conference of the Allegany County Farm Bureau was held on Jan. 21, 1964 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Galen Stout in Hallsport. Nineteen members were present. Mrs. Iva Sisson of Andover reported that the Women's Committee is working to revise the Allegany County Farm Plan Book.

She also reminded members of the place mat contest which will advertise Allegany County farm products. Fred Sisson of Andover and Allen Stout of Hallsport reported on current legislation of interest to farmers.

Workmen's Compensation for Farmers was the discussion led by Galen Stout. Many interesting points were brought out on the subject.

Carroll Burdick of Andover read two editorials from the January "American Agriculturist". They were, "How's That Again?" and "To a Congressman".

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Smith of Hallsport.

Average Cost Of An Adequate Diet

To feed a family of four adequately for one week on a moderate-cost diet would cost an average of $32, reports Cathryn R. Bernstein, home demonstration agent for Allegany County Extension Service. A low-cost plan that would also provide adequate nutrition would cost about $24 and a liberal plan $37 per week. These estimates are based on U.S. Department of Agriculture study using January 1962 figures.

Hornell Symphony Assoc. To Hold Second Concert

The second concert of the Hornell Symphony Association will be held on Sunday, March 1, at 8:15 p.m., in the new Hornell High School auditorium, it has been announced by Glenn Sprague, the orchestra's conductor.

In making the announcement, Sprague said, "We are grateful to the Board of Education and to the officials of Hornell High School for having made available in the past to the association the facilities of the present junior high school for our rehearsals and concerts. We are now looking forward with eagerness to performing in the auditorium of the new high school. The acoustics and the appointments of this new facility will enhance the enjoyment of listening to a live symphonic concert. The association is, indeed, appreciative that Hornell High School authorities are making it possible for us to present our concerts in this splendid, new auditorium."

The second concert will be highlighted by two special presentations. Mary Louise Nanna of the Buffalo Philharmonic Orchestra will perform a violin solo, the "Concerto, No. 3 in G Major" by Mozart. A festival chorus will join the orchestra in Rubinstein's choral work, "The Voice of Freedom." The chorus, directed by Sprague, consists of 50 carefully chosen voices from the Hornell area. Herbert Berry of Canaseraga, chairman of the committee which selected the singers, commented, "We are pleased with the response to our invitation. The performance by the Hornell Symphony Festival Chorus will add a new note to our concerts and provide our audience with an exciting experience." Other members of the selection committee include Mrs. Betty Waterbury of Dansville, Mrs. Shirley Goodman of North Hornell, and Paul Giles of Alfred.

Another feature of the second concert will be the performance of "Les Preludes," by Liszt, under the baton of Durwent Angier, director of music at Prattsburg Central School. Angier has been a regular member of the orchestra since its inception. The March 1 concert will mark his first appearance as a conductor of the orchestra.

The complete program for the second concert includes "Oberon Overture," Von Weber; "Chorale from Sleeper's Wake," Bach; Concerto No. 3 in G Major, Mozart, with Miss Nanna as violin soloist; "Les Preludes," Liszt; "Tales of the Vienna Woods," Strauss; and "The Voice of Freedom," Rubinstein, with the Hornell Symphony Festival Chorus.

The recently-expanded Board of Directors of the symphony association includes Warren L. Bouck, Alfred, Chairman and Business Manager; Wayne E. Brownell, Almond, Secretary; Glenn Sprague, Hornell, conductor; Durwent Angier, Prattsburg, assistant conductor; Mrs. Winifred Robinson, Swain; Herbert Berry, Canaseraga; Mrs. Gladys Brasted, Hornell; Dr. Melvin Lemon, Alfred; William Argentiari, Hornell; Mrs. Stanley Garman, Canisteo; and Mrs. Irwin Cropp, Hornell, orchestra manager.

Of the 50,000 young boatmen certified under New York's Young Boatman's Training Course since 1960, none have been involved in a major boating accident involving a fatality.
