VOL. 100, NO. 14

For The Week Ending Thursday, April 2, 1964

$3.50 year, 10c copy

Kay No. 61, lower left hand corner, with 'Bonnie' Nevol holding "Marty" Wittie, age 1. The Easter Bunny needs no identification we presume, since we've never seen humans with long ears like that. The young gentleman beside the Easter Bunny is Daren Boyce who is connected with Radio Station WLSV in Wellsville which carried out the "Publicity Stunt" that was broadcast live and was sponsored by four local Business Establishments, Joyce Pipeline, The Citizens National Bank, Baker's Hardware and Ford & Peckham and Stannards Mobile Homes. In the picture, young "Marty" seems to be hesitantly holding out his hand towards the Easter Bunny but whether it is to feel of it or push it away is rather hard to determine.

News That's Print To Fit

By the looks of the official temperature readings recorded at the Andover Pump Station it seems as if someones time machine is in reverse since the calendar tells us that Spring is officially here and our common sense and feelings tell us that winter has never left.

This past week's recorded temperatures speak for themselves: Thursday, 26th—34-L, 58-H; Fri. 13-L, 28-H; Sat. 12-L, 40-H; Sun. 22-L, 27-H; Mon. 11-L, 22-H; Wed. 2-L, 31-H; Thurs 10-L, 45-H.

For all of you folks in Florida and in warmer climates—you can really be glad you are there—and for us—all we can hope is that this morning's slight raise in temperature means that the doggone cold snap has broken!

We see that wishful hopes recorded in this column last week came to pass, since the winter's collection of dirt, sand and dust has been cleaned up on Main St.

It must be rather heart-warming to the taxpayers to see that this was accomplished thru the services and co-operation of the State Crew and our own local Village Crew.

Now all we need is to have the Town Crew get in the act and tear the top off the West side of the bridge on the corner of Main St., and Rochambeau. We can guarantee that this helpful deed would indeed rate a pretty good sized "ave"—not only from our point of view but from most of the motorists that use the bridge.

While on the subject of civic betterment, we noticed that there is agitation in Hornell on the City Board to raise the price of the parking meters along the main streets from 5c to 10c per hour with an hour limit.

We talked to several business-people in Hornell and asked them how come, and were told that what they were trying to do was put a stop to the practice of a lot of store employees parking their cars on the main streets and leaving them there all day thereby cutting down a great many available parking spaces for potential customers. This certainly seems a rather drastic measure in order to put a stop to something that shouldn't even happen in the first place. It would seem that store employees would have the common sense to realize that without sufficient trade and shoppers, their jobs would be soon in jeopardy.

Here, on the home front, however, we see much of the same kind of actions going on almost every day. Only here, in Andover, there are three different places where people can park all day—within a block of any store—and for FREE.

Only of course on our end of Main St., we now have the added burden of furnishing parking places along Main St., for members of the new "Club" which seems to be rather busy judging from the parked cars at times. Evidently some of the retired members of the club are in such poor health that they can't park their cars in the free parking lot in back of Sackett's and then walk "to work", or else they figure that they add so much to the economy of the stores in this area that the businessmen just don't need the extra business that is being driven away daily—just for the want of a few ready parking places where a hurried shopper can stop for three or four minutes and pick up a few items they are in a hurry for.

Another thing to be considered—when facing the facts fairly and squarely—how many tourists or motorists passing through are going to take the time or trouble to look up a parking lot that they don't even know exists, in order

No Youth Baseball Program For '64??

After a very successful and enjoyable 1963 season the Andover Youth Baseball program of 1964 is now at a standstill.

Where is the enthusiasm shown a year ago?

The meeting held Tuesday, March 31 at the Andover Central School, produced 11 hardy souls. Hardly enough to enroll the 84 players who participated in the 1963 schedule.

The next meeting will be held at Andover Central School on Thursday, April 9th at 8:00 p. m.

There must be a large representation of the potential players. Parents in attendance if this program is to continue!

Don't let your apathy ruin a good program where your Sons can enjoy their favorite sport, as well as learn Sportsmanship, enjoy Comradeship, get Good Health Exercise—all under Supervision—FOR FREE!!!!

This meeting is not limited to parents only—anyone interested in this Youth Baseball Program is cordially invited to attend as well as help out in this Important Program.

to stop and buy something they need at the drug store, grocery store, at Dave's Restaurant or at John's? If they don't see a parking place in front of the place they wish to stop at—they just keep going and stop at the next town where they can park.

Perhaps if this practice continues, the Village Board could take action and pass an Ordinance limiting parking on Main St., to 1 hour during business hours. If there is no other alternative we suppose that we could shoot up a little film, grind out a few pictures, and run a photo identification column and contest each week. Maybe some of the stores that are losing business might even be willing to donate prizes for such a picture contest. How about it boys? 10-4?
