Editorial

by Jean DeRemer

I was glancing through a literature book a few days ago and ran across a poem that I thought was appropriate, since driver education is just starting. It will apply to many families in the area in just a few weeks.

Phaethon

by Morris Bishop

Apollo through the heavens rode in glinting gold attire; His car was bright with crysolite, His horses snorted fire. He held them to their frantic course

Across the blazing sky. His darling son was Phaethon, Who begged to have a try. "The chargers are ambrosia-fed, They barely brook control; On high beware the Crab, the Bear, The Serpent round the pole; Against the Archer and the Bull They form is all unsteered!" But Phaethon could lay it on; Apollo had to yield.

Out of the purple doors of dawn Phaethon drove the horses; They felt his hand could not command,

They left their wonted courses. And from the chariot Phaethon Plunged like a falling star— And so, my boy, no, no, my boy, You cannot take the car.

Of course, modern parents don't drive the sun across the sky and teenagers can drive sensibly. That's what driver's education teaches. It teaches people to drive sensibly and safely.

Driver's education attempts to reach a goal of safe driving and, in other words, change the last sentence to:

And so, my boy, yes, yes, my boy, I'll let you take the car.

School Spirit Stalks The Campus Is there a spirit in your school? No school should be without one, you know. School spirit, to be an asset, should "haunt" every corner of the school; it should ring out from every hallway and every student should be obsessed with the idea of promoting his alma mater.

Unfortunately, some schools have a school spirit, but it lurks in the dark corners and behind doors and is never shown to the public. It is so quiet no one would even know that it was there.

Some schools had a school spirit but it was "accidentally" misplaced when the star team had a bad season. The spirit just seemed to be no more.

It's too bad that a school just can't go out and buy a spirit, to "haunt" their school. Even if they could, some schools wouldn't bother. No, school spirit must come from the heart of the student body and from the pride they are willing to show for their school.

So, why not take a close look in the corners and hallways of your school to see if there is a spirit lurking there to be brought out into the open for all to see.

New Teachers

This week, our spotlight falls on Miss Jane Troxell, our girls' Physical Education instructor.

Miss Troxell, formerly of Wilkesbarre, Pennsylvania, graduated from East Strassburg State College with a degree in Physical Education. She then taught in Scanton, Penna., for three and a half years and one year in Miami, Florida before coming to Andover.

We wish you a pleasant stay here, Miss Troxell and we're sure you will be an asset to our faculty.

Spy!

Well, here I am again, with all the goings on around this lively town! What was so interesting in the cemetery Friday night, D. P., P. G., L. C., C. A., and S. C.? I hear there was quite a basketball game Saturday night at Hames's. How 'bout it, D. B., and D. P., G. B., and D. H., R. A., and P. G.?

I guess Cheryl and Janet deserve a nice long vacation after all the work they did this weekend. How were the hots and hamburgers?

The report is that Penny's doing fine with her "extra-curricular" activities! We all miss her.

That sure is a nice ring you've got D. M., couldn't be a certain guy from Hornell?

Janet's house is awfully empty without Vikki. (Could this be our answer for a few parties?)

I hear the mailman blessed you with a couple of letters from Rhode Island, Cheryl. How is that favorite sailor of yours?

How are the pizzas in Hennell C. B., J. W., B. G., and V. W. I hear it was Vikki's last night home.

Not very many kids turned out for the soccer game Friday, but my private eye spotted a few: J. H., and G. B., K. J., M. R., P. G., C. G., R. A., J. W., and "Goat".

Did you make it to the show this weekend, D. B., and D. P.? Sure hope you did to go out with V. G., Spokie. Don't give up! And what's this I hear J. C., went out with a certain WLSV guy? Have fun!

Looks like R. A., had a little stroke of bad luck this week-end. I see S. C., misses a certain Cornell guy. Couldn't be J. G.?

Quite a few students from Andover were seen at the Football game in Wellsville Saturday night. Isn't that right Deena M., and Steve A., Kathy S., and J. S. Could these be Hornell boys you were seen with? Oh yeah like, who was that girl you were seen with? Could it be Jenny H., from Hornell?

Well, that's all the news I have this week so I'll go back into my corner to watch all, learn all, and see all that happens. Watch out!

Advice To The Lovelorn

by Agnes and Agatha

Editor's note:—Someone, I cannot reveal her true name, handed me a note containing two letters. Agnes and Agatha have graciously consented to answer any and all such letters. If you have a problem, write to Agnes and Agatha, care of Room 225.

Dear Editor: My steady, Floydie, and I are very happy except we have one small problem—my 280 pound St. Bernard, "Sweetie Pie". You see, Floydie has a little sports car and every time he comes to see me, "Sweetie Pie" is so glad to see him that she throws herself over the car so Floydie isn't able to get out. What can I do?

"Two-Ton Tillie" Dear "Tillie": Either get rid of "Sweetie Pie" or your romance will go to the dogs.

Agnes and Agatha Dear Anyone

I don't know what's wrong but I just can't seem to get a girl-friend. I am tall, muscular, I have wavy hair and big beautiful brown eyes. I also own a red Sting Ray. In short—

I. M. Great Dear I. M. Great

You certainly are! If you'll just leave your address, we know a couple of cuties whose initials are A. and A. who will be right over. See you!

Senior Interview

Ruth Dell Allen, seventeen year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Riley Allen has been chosen to be number one in a series of interviews of this year's Senior Class.

Ruth is very active in school. Not only has she obtained a major in Homemaking and Art, but she has been in FHA for four years; in GAA for four years; Red Cross for two years; in Hi Herald for four years and Library Council for three years. This year Ruth is Art Editor of the Yearbook. She was "Miss Hastings" in the Junior Play. Recently she joined Camera Club.

Since Ruth loves art and art designing, she plans to attend a two-year junior college and take retailing.

When asked what her philosophy was she laughed and said "you only live once!"

Ruth has many favorite things. Her favorite saying is "It's nice if you like that sort of thing!" She loves red for a color. Her favorite book is "Spencer's Mountain" and her favorite movie is "Gone With The Wind". She could eat pizza all day and her favorite subject is Art History.

Notice

The Andover Central School Swimming Pool will be closed until further notice.

Senior News

This week the Class of 1965 began its annual Magazine Campaign. The drive started Monday, September 21 and will run for two weeks ending October 5. A goal of two thousand dollars has been set.
