Bible Adventure Campaign For Boys and Girls At Baptist Church

An invitation is extended to all boys and girls in the area from grades one through eight to participate in a Bible Adventure Campaign to be held at the Baptist Church after school each afternoon from Wednesday, October 21 through Thursday, October 29, beginning at 3:55 p. m. each afternoon.
 Here is a wonderful opportunity for boys and girls to learn more about the Bible, God's Word, and to have fun while doing it. Two young ladies, trained and experienced in the field of Christian Education, will be coming into our community this week-end to conduct this Campaign.

Appreciation

My sincere thanks to the neighbors and friends who so kindly remembered me with cards and visits and other acts of kindness during my stay in the hospital and while convalescing at my home.

Sackett-Turner

Kenwood Park Presbyterian Church in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, provided the setting for the marriage of Miss Cheryl Rae Turner and Robert Gordon Sackett, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Sackett, Chestnut St., Andover, on Saturday, October 3, 1964 at 2:30 p. m. with the Rev. Donald Jaffert performing the ceremony.
 The bride, the daughter of Prof. and Mrs. William John Turner of 827 F Avenue N. W., Cedar Rapids, Iowa, chose as gown a tulle gown styled with an empire bodice of re-embroidered Alencon lace and a Watteau train. A lace crown trimmed with pearls held her veil and she carried a cascade bouquet of mums and roses.
 Miss Sandra Kae Turner, was her sister's maid-of-honor and Susan Kohler, bridesmaid.
 Their ruby peau de faille dresses had bracelet sleeves, scoop necklines and controlled skirts. Their bouffant veils were caught to matching bows.
 Miss Nancy Lou Turner, sister of the bride, was junior bridesmaid. Her gown was identical to the other two attendants but had a circlet of white sweetheart roses in her hair. They each carried a long stemmed white rose.
 Miss Lisa Turner and Timothy Cook were flower girl and ring-bearer.

Attending Mr. Sackett were John Craper of Fairfield, Iowa, as best man and Rich Wescott, also of Fairfield, groomsmen; Cappy Skinner and Larry Blaugrund, both of Fairfield were ushers. All were fraternity brothers of Mr. Sackett.
 A reception for 200 guests was given in the church parlors followed by a buffet at the home of the bride's parents for members of the immediate family.
 Mr. Sackett is a graduate of Andover Central School, Alfred Tsch and is a senior at Parsons College in Fairfield, Iowa, where he will graduate in February, 1965 majoring in Physical Education. His bride attended Drake University.

Mr. and Mrs. Sackett will live in Fairfield, Iowa.
 George Sackett, son, Edward and daughters, Mrs. Edward Dugan and Miss Mary Jane Sackett of Rochester, attended the wedding from this area.

Transplanted Trees and Shrubs Should Be Pruned

Trees and shrubs transplanted this fall should be pruned to help them get started. Roots are always lost in transplanting and the tops should be cut back to compensate for reduction in root systems.
 This is the advice of Dr. Arthur T. Viertel, at the State University College of Forestry at Syracuse University. He says that up to 50 per cent of the top growth should be removed, with the exception of evergreens which are generally not top pruned.
 When removing entire branches, each branch should be cut flush with the branch or trunk from which it arises. When pruning parts of branches, cuts should be made so that a living bud at the end of each stub remains. Broken branches are likely candidates for pruning. Be sure to preserve the tip of the trunk and keep in mind the general shape of the crown when trimming.
 A pamphlet containing many valuable hints on transplanting has been prepared by Dr. Viertel and is offered free of charge by the Extension Department of the College of Forestry. The booklet points out that spring and fall are the best times for transplanting trees because weather conditions are more favorable.
 Also covered in the pamphlet are: choosing the right tree for your home; soil conditions and how to improve them; transporting the tree; planting; and care of the tree after it has been placed in the ground.
 To obtain "Recipe for Tree Planting" mail post card to: Extension Department, State University College of Forestry, Syracuse, New York 13210.

Village Officials Attend Convention

Mayor Paul Kilbane, President of the Municipal Electric Utilities Association of New York State, Trustees Howard McAndrew and Charles Ruger attended the annual conference of that association at Grossingers Hotel October 7th through October 10th.
 President Kilbane conducted the business sessions Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, presented his annual report and served as toastmaster for the banquet on Thursday evening.

Included in the program of the Conference were speakers on administrative and operational subjects. The Power Authority of New York State was represented by Dr. Finia G. Crawford, Trustee and Asa George, Asst. Chief Engineer, both of whom spoke on some of the problems of the Power Authority and possible solutions. "State Employees Retirement System", which covers many Village employees, was the subject of a comprehensive discussion by I. S. Hungerford of the System.

Talks on the latest electrical equipment available were given by engineers from several of the large manufacturers.

Mr. J. D. Brown, Asst. General Manager of American Public Power Association spoke on the subject "Public Power Benefits Your Community". Mr. Brown reported "There are local public power systems in nearly 2,000 communities in 48 states and Puerto Rico. Perhaps the greatest concentration of local public power systems is in the central part of our nation. In Iowa there are 133 municipal systems; in Kansas, 133; in Minnesota, 126; in Nebraska, 159; in Ohio, 100; in Wisconsin, 87; in New York State, 43."

Public power in the United States had its historic beginnings at the local level. There had been municipal power systems for a quarter of a century before there was any state public power. Local public power was half a century old before TVA was created!

"Many communities wanted to obtain for themselves the benefits of electric system operation, rather than turning the job over to a private concern.
 "They picked the do-it-yourself route". Local public power began more than 80 years ago. The Nation's local public power system serve 30 million people—about 14% of the national total.
 "Local public power is big and receives over $2 billion a year in electric revenues, from the sale of more than 100 billion kilowatt-hours of electricity.
 "Your community is fortunate to have its own municipal power system—and I hope the people of your community know this fact. Because if a local, public power means the benefits stay in your own community; they are not shipped out of town to a distant owner. Every dollar your municipal power system earns over and above its costs benefits your consumers at home.

Over 260 member and guests attended the Conference. M.E. U.A. membership is made up of 43 communities in New York State which own and operate their own municipal electric systems.
 Upon recommendation of the Executive Committee, the members conferred this membership on retiring President Kilbane. Mayor Kilbane will continue to serve on the Executive Committee for the next two years.
