Soil Conservation News

Wendell Chamberlain, Grange Representative of the Board of Directors of the Allegany County Soil and Water Conservation District attended the Annual Meeting of the New York State Soil and Water Conservation District Association meeting at the Van Curler Hotel, Schenectady, N. Y., on Dec. 2, 3, and 4, 1964.

The theme of the meeting was "Clear Water Through Conservation". Mr. Chamberlain said "the association had developed a very interesting program based on problems, method and value of establishing small watershed protection districts."

There were several keynote speakers including Hollis Williams Deputy Administrator of the Soil Conservation Service, Washington, D. C.; F. W. Montanari, Assistant Commissioner-Division of Water Resources, New York Conservation Department; Leonard Devorsky, Director of Water Resource Center, Cornell University; Leslie Wood, Chairman of the Schenectady Creek Watershed Franklinville, N. Y. The speaker for the closing session was Harry Graham, Legislative Advisor on Soil and Water Conservation for the National Grange.

Forty-one of the forty-eight districts were represented including all districts of Area I which includes the eight western New York counties.
