News That's Print To Fit

Boy, is the weatherman all fouled up! Sure looks as if he has his season twisted around a batch. At Christmas time it was green, and then we wind up with a white Easter. That "four inches of snow or more" really put a damper on the local Easter Parade — for the Gals anyway, and with the streets as slippery as they were it even made driving rather hazardous.

Besides this — it really seemed odd to see state and local crews out with snow plows and equipment just as if it were still winter. In fact, we heard several local wags quipping and asking when the Christmas Decorations were going to be put up. In this department — the News Office is a sure bet to be first, since our Decorations and lights are already up. The only trouble, is of course the boughs have started to turn brown — and here they have only been up since before Christmas. Oh, well, maybe when the editor feller — returns from his active tour of Army duty, the weather will be warmed up enough, so that he can enlist a little help in removing said brown boughs! — How now, — Brown Bough!

As far as giving the degree by degree temperature for the past week — it looks as if the town cryer is going to have to call up the "boy's down at the Pump Station — and give the report verbally when he makes his weekly round, since yours truly, doesn't have a "Hot Line" — connected up yet with "Ye Olde Home Town".

Since we broke the News Story about the plans for constructing the new Super Market on Main Street, several people have asked us why "Ken" was going to do when his Jewelry Store was torn down. In that news story we reported on an interview that we had with "Ken" at that time but since it is apparent that it was over-looked by some of our readers, we will repeat ourselves.

"Ken" tells us that he is going to set up his watch repair shop, in the back part of his Men's & Boys' Store, and will continue operations — under just a different location — but in the same manner. (This will also include his guns and ammo). Does that clear up one point? Or are there other questions?

As far as the rest of this column is concerned perhaps it should be under a different title or heading — like "Roving with 'Red' or Something". At any rate we will make a few comments on the situation up here in the North County, namely Camp Drum.

For something like sixteen years while in the National Guard, our annual two weeks tour of Camp Drum has been a test of effectiveness of our troop organization on active duty status. For this whole period of time we have always had to watch out for the Regular Army Umpires, or "Bird-Dogs" — as we used to call them. Now the situation is reversed, and as the saying goes "we are one". They say, "it takes one to catch one". Before, we had to have answers ready everytime an inspector came around. Now, we will be asking the questions — and after all the answers we have given in the past, we will at last have a pretty good insight into the actual evaluation of the answers that we are given. — Won't that be something!

For all of you who have seen the new Army fatigue cap — it very much resembles a base-ball cap — only in a different color (olive-green). However, now we know the real purpose of it — at least we are going to have to attend an umpire's school for the next week, so we are drawing our own conclusions.

Also, whenever anyone talked about Regular Army Personnel and Regular Army Duty, we always

Now that we are involved — Lo and Behold — they have classes scheduled for all day Saturday and Sunday, with the Regular Army Test Exercises scheduled to start on the following Saturday morning in the field and run five consecutive days with out a let-up.

Thus it looks as if everything has changed — but why do we have to get tangled up in every one of these modern — "first"? Well, at least the taxpayers will be getting their money's worth from this Army Field Exercise, anyway — that's any consolation. Well, someone just said chow is ready, so $0.0-0 long for now.
