

5 PEOPLE WALKED AWAY FROM THIS ONE! News Photo

A one-car accident around 8 A. M., this morning on Route 17 in front of the Lynn Matison home a short distance West from the Andover Village Dump, hospitalized the youthful driver and her father and from appearances, totally demolished the auto she was driving.

Sue Anne Ford, 18, R.D., 1, Greenwood, driver of the car sustained multiple lacerations and possible back injuries; her father, Jennings B. Ford, 65, same address, and owner of the car, received a broken clavicle and multiple lacerations, with both of them being listed in fair condition according to authorities at the St. James Mercy Hospital in Hornell while Mrs. Betty Ford, the girl's mother and passenger in the rear seat of the ill fated vehicle, was not admitted to the hospital although she accompanied the other two members of her family in the James B. Mulholland Ambulance.

Miss Ford and her family had dropped Roderick C. Ford, 21, off at the Bulk-Tainer Plant in Andover where he is employed and were proceeding West on Route 17 towards Wellsville when the accident occurred.

The youthful driver passed an Andover Central School bus driven by Oliver Kemp, cut in sharply in front of the bus when an oncoming car was observed approaching, lost control of her car, skidded across the road, rolled over the embankment on the South side of the road with the car ending up on its top in the field bordering the highway.

According to Oliver Kemp, School Bus Supervisor and driver of the bus, the driver of the car cut in sharply directly in front of him, apparently lost control of the vehicle as it careened back and forth several times before it skidded sideways across the highway after turning half way around on the loose dirt along the right shoulder of the road, and then rolled over as it went down over the 12 foot embankment with the doors opening up and flapping wildly.

Mr. Kemp told us in an interview this morning that he immediately stopped the empty School Bus and rushed to the scene to assist the victims. Due to the extensive damage to the car, it was rather difficult to get Mr. and Mrs. Ford from the wreckage but since they were both conscious, the task was made a little easier without causing further injuries.

He then directed Mr. Matison to phone for an ambulance and notify the State Police while he remained with the accident victims until assistance arrived.

According to the State Trooper investigating the accident Miss Ford had just been issued her driver's learners permit so her inexperience at the wheel could account for the accident since the road conditions were good and the weather was clear.

News That's Print To Fit

Well, it sure seems good to be back home and be a civilian again, although sad to state, things were not exactly what one would call in good shape upon arrival.

We found that C. C. Backus, former owner and Editor of the Andover News, had suffered a cerebral hemorrhage in our absence and was a bed patient at his home on Main St.

Although he was only able to move just a little bit, Dad seemed to be in good spirits and kidded about the rough army life we encountered while out in the field during the 5 day war games. He also seemed to get a big kick out of the fact that yours truly had to really rough it by sleeping on the ground — under the stars — for the entire 5 nights out in the field.

Through the courtesy of the local American Legion Post of which Claire has been a member for the past 45 years, we were able to get him fixed up with a hospital bed and other necessary items and were lucky enough to be able to pick up a wheel chair thru the County Legion services.

According to "Scotty", Claire, is improving slowly and if nothing further develops, should be able to recover almost completely — providing he follows "the Doctor's Orders". Incidentally, he is now able to be up in his wheel chair part of the time and would probably like to have some of the boys drop in and say hello to him — as it gets rather boring with nothing but women surrounding him most of the time. (Perhaps this is just a personal observance!)

Well, back to the grindstone again, our brief tour back into Army Life wasn't exactly what one might call a vacation. We saw while we were gone that someone (under our heading) defined the word responsibility, or rather spelled it out.

Playing the part of an Umpire and evaluator for an Armored Cavalry Squadron IS quite a responsibility and we faced up to the realistic approach and played the game according to the rules taught us — despite the fact that we got our but chewed out by a full "Burd-Colonel".

Of course after investigating the delay, we had our innings and turned around and chewed the "Burd" — in front of the same Officers that were present when he had his innings. Naturally, he was wrong, and took what was dished out to him although when we departed for home station we can't say that he had a brass band out for our departure — or even that he bid us a fond adieu — not even one litty-bitty word!

Thus imagine our surprise when we got home, read the paper, and found that this kind of stuff had occurred on the home front with one of our little old home town well known citizens having been on the receiving end of a chewing from an Officer (a Lt. according to one report). We understand that the old army game of "passing the buck" didn't work in this case with the chickens coming home to roost. Couldn't have happened to a nicer guy — eh wot?

What with everything at 6's and 4's this week's paper is bound to be out late and we haven't been able to investigate some of the nasty rumors that we have heard floating around — in fact we didn't even get a chance to attend the recent Village Board Meeting.

We can't believe that human beings — or even politicians would go back completely on their word, so will reserve comment until we can get to the bottom of all these rumors. However, if someone — or anyone — is using their position to even up a private score for revenge — you'd better believe that there will be plenty more said or heard about. 10-4?

It would appear we are not the only ones infected with the "flat

"tire" disease in Andover. We noticed Max busily changing a tire on his pick-up early Wednesday morning on Rochambeau Ave. There were several sidewalk supervisors handy at the time but Max was doing such a good job, that our physical help was not needed.

We are still trying to catch up with that Printer's Devil that came up with the Poetry in this Column.

HONOR OUR TEACHERS — for it is they who, by helping mold the minds of children and enriching the lives of adults through continuing and higher education can make the world a better and more civilized place in which to live.

A Tribute to the Teacher

The Teacher is — a Prophet; He lays the foundations of tomorrow.

an Artist; He works with the precious clay of unfolding personality.

a Friend; — His heart responds to the faith and devotion of his students.

a Citizen; — He is selected for the improvement of society.

an Interpreter; — Out of his maturer and wider life he seeks to guide the young.

a Builder; — He works with the higher and finer values of civilization.

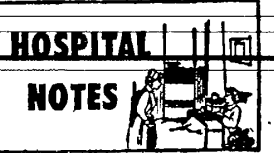

a Culture-Bearer; — He leads the way toward worthier tastes, saner attitudes, more gracious manners, higher intelligence.

a Planned; — He sees the young lives before him as a part of a great system which shall grow stronger in the light of truth.

a Reformer; — He seeks to remove the handicaps that weaken and destroy life.

a Believer; — He has abiding faith in the improbability of the race.
