Miss Ruby Jordan To Retire

To us at Andover Central School, Miss Ruby Jordan represents not only many years of teaching service, but more than that, she stands for an era in education at Andover. She has taught most of us here and also many of our parents. Consequently, she deserves her well-earned rest.

Originally from Friendship, New York, Miss Jordan graduated there from high school and a teacher's training class. Her first teaching job was at South Bolivar District School, a small rural school. After teaching there, she received her formal college education at Genesee and Buffalo State Teachers College. Subsequent jobs included teaching positions at Alfred Station and at Richburg.

In coming to Andover in 1929, Miss Jordan has given thirty-six years to the education of students at Andover Central School. From all her students — to Miss Jordan go best wishes for a happy retirement.

The Board of Education, Faculty and Staff honored Miss Jordan at a dinner at Long Vue recently. At this time she was presented gifts from the Board of Education, Faculty and Staff.

Editorial

by Kathy Shellman

This being my first article as Editor of the Hi Herald, I truly wish to say that it is my sincere hope that next year's newspaper staff will continue to bring satisfactory and interesting articles to the readers. We shall try to continue the good work that has been carried on in the past years.

To the members of next year's newspaper staff and to all the student at Andover Central School, I wish to say that I will do my best to contribute to the cause of our Hi Herald section and to make our paper one that we can be proud of.

To Jean DeRemer, whose place I am taking, congratulations for a job well done.

Last, but not least, a hearty thanks from all the staff to the judges who judged the editorial contest.

Allegany County Sheriff Urges Boating Safety

Boating safety is everybody's business, and with the current boating season already looking like a record-breaker, common sense and courtesy on the water is necessary, if tragic accidents are to be averted.

Here are a few safety tips from Vanama Jones, Sheriff of Allegany County, New York:

"New York State law requires that all mechanically propelled boats operated in State waters must be equipped with at least one life preserver or other approved life saving device for each person aboard. Play it safe—safety-equip your boat."

"Don't ever overload your boat. Carry no more than the number of passengers the boat is built to accommodate. Boating is fun. Help keep it that way by carefully observing the safety rules."

"A trim boat is a safe boat. Distribute the weight of passengers and cargo evenly. When you're underway, sit still in the boat. Avoid changing positions while underway."

"New York State's Navigation Law requires that all boats shall be operated in a careful and prudent manner. Don't let an accident ruin your boating fun. Obey the rules of boating safety."

"For safety sake, you must carry certain equipment in your boat — a suitable anchor, whistle and a United States Coast Guard-approved life preserver, jacket vest, or buoyant cushion for each person aboard. See that your boat contains the required safety equipment."

"Boating accidents do happen. In New York State, boating accidents in which a person is injured, or there is more than 25 dollars worth of property damage, must be reported to the State Division of Motor Boats. Failure to comply may be punishable by a fine of up to 100 dollars."

"The Navigation Law requires that there be two persons in a boat which is towing a water skier. The observer must be at least 10 years of age. Water skiing is prohibited from one hour after sunset to one hour after sunrise."

"Signals are as important to the boatman on the water as they are to the motorist on the highway. When boating, signal your intentions. Let your fellow boatman know where you are, and what you intend to do. It may save your boat, and your life." "If your boat should capsize, stay with it. It is far safer to hang on to the boat until help comes, than to try to swim to shore."

"Don't try to outsmart the weather. Keep a weather eye 'peeled' for the storm signals. If you're on land when you see them, stay there, and if you're on the water, get to shore as quickly as possible."
