Editorial

by Kathy Shellman

The school year has come to an end at last. Many of us will work at jobs, attend summer school or just spend these coming two months in a leisurely manner. For those who will attend summer school to make up for credit not received during the school year. "Good luck and work hard so you can start fresh next year."

Naturally everyone is looking forward to having fun. Enjoy yourselves this summer and come back rested and ready to go to work.

I'm sure everyone joins me in congratulating our Seniors and saying that we'll miss all of them next year. Best wishes for your future success and happiness. Seniors!

The A. C. S. teachers have a wide variety of plans for the summer.

Mrs. Burger, Mrs. Woodruff, Mrs. Reil and Mrs. Swarzenbach will attend an English Language Arts Workshop at Vassar College. Miss Clements will attend Cortland.

Mr. Russell plans to attend Alfred University, taking a course in Psychology.

Miss Goodridge will pursue further education at Buffalo State Teachers' College.

Mr. Mills will teach History again this year at Wellsville Summer School.

Mr. Bronson will take a course in Organic Chemistry at Genesee State Teachers' College.

Miss Troxell has plans for traveling.

Mr. Carmody will spend the summer at his cottage on Conesus Lake.

Mr. MacCrea is just going to stay around home and keep cool!

The staff of the Hi Herald, wants to wish all of the teachers a wonderful vacation, no matter what they do. They surely deserve it.

Local Student Gets Reader's Digest Award

Jean DeRemer, valedictorian of the graduating class at Andover Central School, has been given the Annual Award of The Reader's Digest Association for students who by their successful school work give promise of attaining leadership in the community. It was announced today by James H. Kessler, Principal.

Jean DeRemer will receive an honorary subscription to The Reader's Digest for one year and a personal certificate from the Editors, "in recognition of past accomplishment and in anticipation of unusual achievement to come."

The Reader's Digest Association is presenting these awards in senior high schools and Canada to the highest honor student of the graduating class.

The award to Jean DeRemer, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald DeRemer, was made possible through the cooperation of Mr. Kessler and his teaching staff. They selected Jean to receive the award, designed to stimulate scholarship, citizenship, and continued contact with good reading after graduation.

STILL JAWING

A husband and wife had been arguing for hours, and the little woman finally reached the breaking point.

"I'm going home to mother", she wailed. "I should have listened to her 10 years ago!"

"Go ahead," he answered, "she's still talking!"

Bath V. A. Center To Remain Open

By Charles E. Goodell

This past week brought the happy news that the Administration was accepting our contention that the Bath V. A. Center in Steuben County should remain open. The V. A. was ordered to implement the recommendations of the independent committee named by the President. That committee, recognizing the great value of the Center, had urged that Bath be maintained. The committee was appointed by the President after the President himself read the hearings in which many of us testified before the House Veterans Committee. The President said those hearings created some doubt in his mind.

During the course of the hectic battle to preserve Bath, I had opportunities to re-visit the Center several times. It serves all of western New York. Because of its geographical position, this Center is of immense value to the entire 38th Congressional District. During those visits, I was continually impressed by the dedication and the zeal of the people working there.

I am positive that this attitude on the part of the staff had a great deal to do with impressing the other official visitors to Bath that the Hospital and the Domiciliary should remain in operation to serve our veterans.

The remarkable outpouring of sentiment through the mail to me, the Veterans Administration and to the President was another factor which could have spelled the difference between victory and defeat in this battle.

My repeated trips to the Bath V. A. Center have also given me a deeper insight into the character of our veterans who have already sacrificed so much for this country. Having this personal contact was of great value to me during the countless meetings and consultations with officials of the Veterans Administration.

Even during the debate of the past months, I have insisted that not only should the Bath V. A. Center be preserved, but that it should also be expanded. I have written to the Administrator of the Veterans Administration repeatedly to urge him to prepare a progressive program for the future development at Bath.

It is my position that if it is worth keeping Bath operating as a modern facility, it is worth keeping it up-to-date for the future.

We have clear indications that as the years pass, there could be a great influx of veterans from World War II into our facilities across the nation. The Bath V. A. Center, with its pastoral setting and room for physical expansion, could serve as a magnificent future home for those veterans who will need care in the years ahead.

Bath is the heart of a ten-state area in which live millions of veterans from our armed services. It must continue to grow and to change to meet the needs of that veteran population.

I, therefore, intend to continue our fight for Bath.

Alfred Community Band To Hold First Rehearsal

The Alfred Community Band will hold its first rehearsal of the summer season Monday, June 28, at 7 p. m., at the Firehall, West University Street, Alfred. All area instrumentalists who are interested in joining the band are asked to attend the rehearsal.

A second rehearsal will be Tuesday, July 6, with the first concert of the summer scheduled for Wednesday, July 7, at 7:15 p. m. at the Village Green, corner of South Main and West University Streets. In case of inclement weather, the concert will be held Thursday, July 8th.

The band is directed by Anthony C. Cappadonia of Alfred.

Drivers No Longer Able To Forfeit Bail

Albany, N. Y., June 22, 1965—Drivers convicted of speeding in New York State may no longer rely on forfeiting bail in order to avoid either a notation on their operator's license or, in aggravated cases, the loss of driving privileges.

This was the reaction of State Comptroller Arthur Levitt today in expressing satisfaction over the passage of an amendment to the Vehicle and Traffic law clarifying the disposition of fines and forfeitures.

The bill, prepared by the Comptroller, was jointly sponsored by him and the Commissioner of the Department of Motor Vehicles.

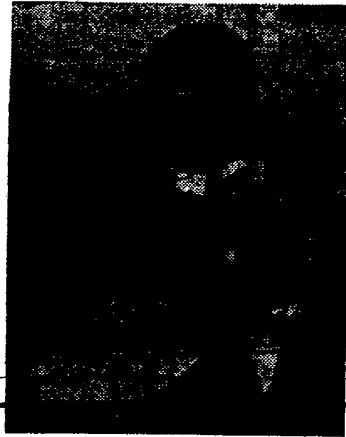

The amendment primarily concerns the disposition of bail forfeitures. Under the old law, the return of bail forfeitures was not limited by population. This led some villages to impose bail forfeitures in lieu of appropriate fines in order to avoid the per-capita limitation upon reimbursement of certain fines.

"This law will eliminate those procedures," said the Comptroller. "Municipal corporations should have no difficulty in interpreting the understanding of the disposition of fines and forfeitures and will benefit both the municipalities and State departments concerned with its application," Mr. Levitt said.
