Dear Red:

We left our home at Lake Demno Wednesday a. m., in good weather and arrived here Saturday at 7 p. m., during a rain-storm.

Each day coming south it was warmer till yesterday about 95. Saw lots of State Police in Penna., some in Maryland and once in a while one in some other states but nobody bothered us.

Bought some nice peaches in Penna., but it was too warm for them to keep good.

In the Carolinas they were picking tobacco. In South Carolina and Georgia they had started picking cotton.

Found everything in very good shape at our home here, except some dead bugs, cobwebs and spider houses.

The caretaker of our home here was quite disturbed, as we did not let him know we were coming. Last year we told him when we were arriving and he had the house opened up, refrigerator turned on, a jug of cold water and an apple pie in it.

Tell Doc Common's I wish he would invent some false teeth made out of foam rubber or some other soft stuff, so I could eat some red raspberry pie, strawberries, fig newtons, peanuts, chewing gum, etc., are off limits for me.

Guess I have rambled on enough for this time. Tell Mr. and Mrs. Claire B., to let us know when they come to St. Pete., so we can be looking for them. Best regards to all.

Yours,
Arthur Burdick

45 Day Split Gunning Season On Ducks & Coots

A 45 day split gunning season on ducks and coots for most of New York State has been announced by the Conservation Department.

The only exception, a small area bordering Lake Champlain, represents a major breakthrough for New York gunners and is the first time since 1946 the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service has permitted a division of the upstate season. For the new Lake Champlain zone the season will run for 50 days straight on ducks and coots, Oct. 16 - Dec. 4. A 70 day season, running Oct. 16 - Dec. 24, has been set for geese and brant.

For upstate New York (except the Lake Champlain zone, the 45 day split season on ducks and coots will be Oct. 16 - Nov. 20 and Jan. 1 - 9. A 70 day straight season on geese and brant runs, Oct. 16 - Dec. 24.

According to Ralph B. Colson, Chief of the Bureau of Game in the Conservation Department, the gunning season for the Lake Champlain zone coincides with the Vermont season and makes good sense in terms of sound waterfowl management. The Lake Champlain zone is designated as lying east of the main line of the D & H railroad from the Canadian border to Whitehall (including South Bay and one mile distant from it in any direction) and north of the D & H branch line from Whitehall to the Vermont border.

Colson said other major changes in the waterfowl regulations include the re-introduction of a scap bonus of two birds daily and four in possession on and after November 15. This provision was in effect in 1963 but dropped last season.

In addition to the scap bonus, redhead ducks are included with the regular three duck per day bag limit. Canvasbacks, wood ducks and mallards each have a daily limit of two. Possession limits on canvasbacks and wood ducks are two, but four mallards may be in possession.

Basically, the bag limit on "regular" ducks is three per day and six in possession.

The bag limit on geese is two daily and four in possession; coot ten daily and 20 in possession; and brant, six daily and in possession.

The daily bag limit on scoter eider and old-squaw is seven with 14 in possession. This is in addition to bag limit on other species.

Hunting hours, including opening day, will be from sunrise to sunset.
