

Editor — Cindy Preston
Associate Ed., Chris Bergerson
Sports Editor, James Howland
Faculty Advisor
Mrs. Madeline Woodruff

The Hi Herald

Written and Edited by
Andover Central School
Printed by Andover News
Member of A. C. S. P. A.

VOL. XXII

Andover, N. Y., October 8, 1970

No. 4

Grace Herr

Grace Herr DAR Good Citizen

Grace Herr, a senior, and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Herr, was chosen by the faculty to receive the DAR Good Citizens Award. The award is based on dependability, service, leadership and patriotism.

Grace will participate in a written quiz which will be given October 17 at the Bolivar Central School. The school's Good Citizen, upon submitting her quiz, is entitled to receive a Certificate of Award from the National Society and to wear the DAR Good Citizen Pin, the gift of the Catherine Schuler Chapter of Belmont.

Grace has been active during her four years of high school. This year she is president of the senior class and a member of the Yearbook Staff. In her junior year she placed first in the local Oratorical Contest and took second place in the County Contest. Besides being active in Red Cross, Hi Herald and Senior Chorus, she devoted a great deal of her time to FFA. She served as FFA President her junior year, thus becoming District Vice-President. She also attended the National FFA Convention.

Vacation

There is a long week-end in view. On Friday, October 9, the students of Andover Central School will enjoy a day of vacation while the teachers are attending the District Superintendent's Conference in Wellsville. The teachers as well as the students will have a vacation Monday, October 12 in observance of Columbus Day. Classes will resume on Tuesday, October 13, as usual.

Registration

by Susan Church

The total registration of Andover Central School for the 1970-1971 School Year is six hundred three students plus one post-graduate. Kindergarten through sixth grade have three hundred twenty-eight children. There are ninety-nine students in seventh and eighth grades (junior high school). In grades nine through twelve (high school) there is a total of one hundred eighty-four pupils, for a grand total of six hundred three in the whole school.

Cafeteria Menu

Week of October 12 - 16

MONDAY — No School

TUESDAY — Hot Meat Sandwich and Gravy, Buttered Vegetable, Peaches, Milk.

WEDNESDAY — Boston Baked Beans and Catup, Brown Bread, Butter, Cabbage and Carrot Salad, Fruited Jello, Milk.

THURSDAY — Tomato, Rich Soup, Cheese, Salad Sandwich, Raised Do-Nut, Milk.

FRIDAY — Macaroni, Cheese and Tomato Casserole, Beets, Peanut Butter Sandwich, Orange Juice, Milk.

Use the Classified Ad Section.

Editorial

by Debby Nichols

Christopher Columbus had a dream, an obsessive idea of reaching the East by sailing West. This idea was not original with Columbus; what was novel was the fervor with which he championed and worked for the realization of his project.

He took his plan first to King John II of Portugal who rejected it. He then presented his plan to Spain. Popular legend portrays the discoverer seeking to convince the bigoted and dull-witted opponents on the Talavera commission that the Earth was round. In reality, the question of the Earth's roundness never entered into the dispute. The main issue was the width of the ocean between Spain and Asia and on this issue Columbus' opponents were right. He had greatly underestimated the earth's size and proved to his own satisfaction that the voyage from the Canaries to Japan would be 2,400 nautical miles (actual air distance is 10,600 miles). The commission knew better. Columbus had given up all hope of support from Spain and was on his way to France when he was summoned back. Isabelle had yielded under last minute pleas from a court official. And so, the expenses of the expedition, about $14,000, were borne chiefly by the crown, but again contrary to legend, Isabelle had no need to pawn her jewels.

The fleet set sail from Palos on the morning of August 3, 1492. They sailed first to the Canaries because according to Columbus' plan, they would be astride a latitude which cut Japan. On September 6, they sailed again. By the end of the month the crews had scared themselves into believing that they would never get back to Spain as the wind was always at their backs. By a combination of pleading and threats Columbus quieted the beginning signs of mutiny and persuaded the men to carry on. In the early morning of October 12, a sailor sighted land. From this, we celebrate October 12 in honor of "a seaman who had no equal in his generation."

Feature

by Lynn Pantol
Day of Atonement

This Saturday, October 10, will be just another week-end for many but for approximately 13,000,000 people of the Jewish faith it is Yom Kippur — a day full of acts that will try to help bring a person or people back to God.

Yom Kippur is a holy day for the Jewish faith much as Ash Wednesday is for many followers of the Christian religion. The idea of Yom Kippur, as recorded in the Old Testament, as recorded in the by the Lord to Moses on Mt. Sinai saying "Then shalt thou cause the trumpet of the jubile to sound on the tenth day of the seventh month in the day of atonement shall ye make the trumpet sound throughout all your land." (Leviticus: 25:11) Today Yom Kippur begins at sunset of October 9 and ends at sunset of October 10.

The laws of Yom Kippur are established in the Old Testament in the Books of Leviticus—Chapters 16:23-32 and Chapter 25:11. They are restated in the Book of Numbers — Chapter 29:7-11. In Biblical times at the Temple of Jerusalem the high priest conducted atonement services. In this service two goats were used; one was sacrificed to Jehovah in atonement for their sins and the other was the scapegoat. The high priest would lay his hands on the scapegoat as he confessed the people's sins. The scapegoat, symbolic of the sins of the people, was then turned into the wilderness to carry his burden of sins to Azazel — a counterpart of the Christian devil.

This Saturday, there will probably be no scapegoat for Azazel but the followers of Jehovah will not work, and will fill their Yom Kippur with atonement services, penance and fasting.

Perhaps if we all kept the mean-

Purple And White

Andy Gram

Last Tuesday, September 28, the Andover Soccer squad traveled to Rushford. It was Andover's game all the way. Jim MacMichael led the Panthers with four goals. Bob Jackson was next with one. The final score was 5 - 0 with the undefeated ball club winning another.

On Friday, October 2, it was Richburg travelling to Andover. After a little difficulty the Panthers downed the Richburg team by score of 4 - 0.

On Monday, October 5, Andover was the host to the Wellsville team. The final score was 3 - 0.

There will be a home game on Friday, October 9 with Alfred-Almond.

Fair King And Queen

John Hyland, a junior, and Eileen Atwell, a sophomore, were crowned King and Queen at the Annual School Fair by a vote of the student body.

The candidates from each class were:

Ninth Grade

Mike Dibble

Linda Smith

Tenth Grade

Fred Baker

Eileen Atwell

Eleventh Grade

John Hyland

Charlene McCormick

Twelfth Grade

Alex Burr

Kathy Gavin

Andover Youth Fellowship To Meet

Those in grades 9 through 12 are invited to be a part of the Andover Youth Fellowship. This group is ecumenical and non-denominational in structure — that is young people from any church are invited to take part.

Rev. Alan Minarik and Michael Brace are serving as advisors to the newly formed group.

This week the meeting will be held at the home of Rev. Minarik on 5 East Ave. on Sunday October 11 at 6:00 P. M. The theme of the program will be "Drugs, Sense and Nonsense." All are welcome!

ing of Yom Kippur in mind all year we would have a happier, more peaceful world.

Cheerleading Tryouts

by Kathy Spencer

Friday, October 2, Cheerleading tryouts were held after school. Eighteen girls participated and here are the results:

VARSITY

Cheryl Joyce
Eileen Atwell
Kathy Spencer
Jeanne Atwell
Pam Crittenden
Brenda Preston
Alternate — Sue Boyer

JUNIOR VARSITY

Dee Dee Gorsuch
Beth Wolter
Kim Baker
Mary Lou Bird
Barb Leonard
Laurie Tomm
No Alternate

T.V. Tie-Ups

by Voni Mattison

Lost In Space — Math Eleven Class

Truth Or Consequences — Principal's Office

Hee Haw — Fourth period study hall

Day of Discovery — Chemistry Class

Young Rebels — Friday nights downtown

It's Academic — Alan Folsom

Teen Time

by Lois Gram

On October 17, Andover Central School will be sending two students, Andy Gram and Debby Nichols, both Seniors, to represent Andover on the Teen Time Program sponsored by the WLSV Radio Station. Get in touch with these people for any song dedications or school news that you might wish to have announced.

Keep On Buying Savings Bonds

Who Cares?

"We Care"

"We Care." That's what nearly 4 million boys and girls across the nation are saying this week.

Who are they? About 812 of them are in Allegany County. They are all members of 4-H and are celebrating National 4-H Week, October 4 to 10.

The 9 to 19 year-old youths do more than just talk about caring. They show their concern through community and project work of numerous kinds.

These boys and girls, according to Laurence Dedrick, Allegany County Extension agent, take advantage of the opportunities provided by the Cooperative Extension Service which is in charge of the 4-H program in New York State.

While adding depth and dimension to their personal development, the 4-H'ers get involved in community betterment. The Extension agent said their projects help them learn-by-doing — how to combat poverty, malnutrition, and the pollution of our environment.

Dedrick said today's 4-H'ers are enrolled in educational programs with something of interest to all regardless of where they live. About 100 different projects offer them learning opportunities which cover just about every home situation, ability, and personal goal.

Some of these learn-by-doing projects include: Foods and nutrition, clothing, health, money management, conservation, agronomy, electronics, automotive, marketing, animal science, veterinary science, dog care and training.

Now is a good time for young people to join 4-H. To find out how to join, call 716-268-7644 or visit your 4-H office in Belmont, N. Y.

Hamburger and steak have about the same food value.

Doctor in the Kitchen®

by Laurence M. Hursh, M.D.
Consultant, National Dairy Council

SCHOOL LUNCH WEEK

Think of a lunch featuring chicken, a homemade biscuit and butter, green peas, crisp coleslaw, cranberry jelly, an oatmeal raisin cookie, and ice cold milk.

That's the nationwide menu that will be served in thousands of schools across the nation one day next week during National School Lunch Week (Oct. 11-17).

"Universal Menu"

The so-called "universal menu" was first tried last year during school lunch week observances and it proved to be an excellent way of drawing attention to the scope of the school lunch program. Too many people, I am told, still look upon the school lunch program as "a bowl of soup and a cup of milk." Actually, school lunch is both nourishing and an educational experience.

Children study in the classroom about nutrition and proper food choices. But what better way to supplement that learning than to serve children each school day an example of how they should eat. Merchandisers go to great lengths to get people to sample their wares. It works in education, too. Children eating good meals at school will as adults more likely practice sound eating habits.

And then there are children who may get poorly planned meals at home. School lunch could be the best meal they get all day. In poverty areas it may be the first meal of the day.

That's why the Federal government is pushing, through the Child Nutrition Act, new breakfast programs as well.

Get back to National School Lunch Week as it will be celebrated this year. The theme is "School Lunch Supports Effective Education." That summarizes the point I made earlier about school lunch being an educational experience.

Posters, many crafts, book markers, and lapel buttons featuring a photograph of three children being served a Type A school lunch, will be used in many schools and communities. In many areas, school lunch week will also feature special programs on TV, radio, and publicity in newspapers. It's a subject we all have a stake in.

Special Invitations

In many school districts special invitations to share the nationwide school lunch menu one day next week have been sent to Board of Education members, to newspaper, radio and TV reporters, state legislative representatives and other governmental dignitaries, as well as to physicians and other members of the health professions. If some such plans have not come to your attention in your community, perhaps it's not too late to suggest it to school authorities, or to your PTA leaders.

You couldn't help push a better cause.

QUITTING

NOW MAY SAVE YOUR LIFE

American Cancer Society