Alfred Dormitory Named After Dr. F. G. Crawford

One of the seven new dormitories now under construction at Alfred University will be named after Dr. Finlay G. Crawford of Andover.

Chairman of the board of trustees between 1963 and 1968, Dr. Crawford is a life trustee of the University. He was first elected to the board in 1935.

Three other past presidents and trustee-board chairmen will have dormitories named after them. They are: William Colegrove Kenyon, the University's first president (1857-1867); John Nelson Norwood, seventh president (1933-1945), who died in 1965; and Booth Colwell Davis, Jr., former chairman and vice chairman of the board of trustees, who died in 1968.

The new dormitories will house both men and women. Completion date for all seven units is July 1971.

Being built at a cost of $2.8 million, the dormitories are part of a $17.8 million campus expansion program begun in 1964.

Substitute School Bus Drivers Training Sessions Available

A shortage of qualified substitute school bus drivers has led officials at State University Agricultural and Technical College at Alfred to arrange a series of training sessions for such drivers.

A survey of several schools in Steuben and Allegany Counties revealed that there is quite a shortage of qualified substitute drivers, said Reed D. Lowrey, director of continuing education at Alfred State College. "The training course we are offering should help alleviate the shortage by preparing potential bus drivers to take the state licensing exam for a Class II chauffeur's license."

The five training sessions will be on Tuesdays from 7 p. m. to 9 p. m. at Alfred-Almond Central School and will begin October 20.

National 4-H Week Observance

Allegany County's more than 812 4-H members are having a celebration this week. And they aren't the only ones, according to Mr. Laurence Dedrick, County Extension Agent. The local 4-Hers are joining more than 174,828 New York State 4-Hers and nearly 4 million others throughout the Nation in the observance of National 4-H Week, October 4 to 10.

What is the occasion all about here in Allegany County? Mr. Dedrick said the county's 4-Hers will be participating in activities all week to tell the public and prospective 4-H members about the Head, Heart, Hands, and Health program; also to recruit more volunteer leaders, recognize the support of parents, and to honor 4-H friends.

The county and national observance has as its theme, "We Care."

"Opportunities in 4-H and the opportunity to join 4-H are greater now than ever before," Dedrick said. Young people between the ages of 9 and 19 qualify for membership whether they live on farms, in town, cities, or suburbs. Those of all cultural and economic backgrounds are welcome too.

The Allegany County 4-H Council — with help from local 4-H officers, adult volunteer leaders, and the County Extension Service Staff — is heading the special week long observance here.

To help call attention to their achievements during the past year and point out what 4-H offers, Allegany County youth, local 4-Hers are arranging window displays and exhibits in local community stores. Many will participate in 4-H Sunday services at several local churches.

In the modern 4-H program, Dedrick said the major part of the 4-H story is project work. Members choose from some 100 projects dealing with everyday learning experiences that fit them and the places where they live.

Mr. Lowrey is mailing information about the course to school officials to furnish a list of course participants to him by Tuesday Oct. 13.

Mr. Lowrey has asked individuals (both men and women) interested in the training course to contact the office of the supervising principal in their school district for further details.

The course will be taught by Kenneth Brace, driver education instructor for the Board of Cooperative Educational Services-BOCES in Allegany County.

Allegany County boys and girls were enrolled in over 75 educational learn-by-doing farm, home personal development, and community projects last year.

The Cooperative Extension Service of Cornell University provides each 4-H member with the latest research information and up-to-date methods for carrying on the projects selected. Using this information, the 4-Hers develop his or her project, keeps records, prepares educational exhibits, and makes show-and-tell presentations for the benefit of others.

However, projects aren't the whole story in 4-H, Dedrick said. In 4-H, Allegany County boys and girls have fun, go to camp, take special trips, attend dinners, banquets, and rallies; participate in area and State fairs, earn awards — including scholarships, work with younger 4-H members, enroll in leadership and citizenship programs, and discover new and interesting ways to enjoy life while living it.

National 4-H Week is a fine time for boys and girls to join 4-H and show they care about their future. The 4-H office is located in the Town and Village Hall, Belmont, N. Y., and the telephone number is 716-268-7644.

Red Cross News

"Twelve months a year, seven days a week, 24 hours a day the Red Cross office is ready to help you," said Richard Burdick, Allegany County Red Cross Fund Chairman. "This month we need your help."

Last year we provided you with 899 pints of blood in the county hospitals. This does not include the blood you received in hospitals outside of the county that we replaced.

We provided service to 467 cases in our Service to Military and their Families program.

By teaching 1,030 of your children to swim and 493 of you first aid we are carrying out our program of safety services. Many of those passing first aid are your volunteer ambulance drivers.

Fourteen families were given assistance to recover from fire disasters.

Your sons were served coffee and doughnuts at the Selective Service Board in Belmont before leaving for Buffalo.

These and many other services we gave you. This month you have the opportunity to help us to continue these services by giving generously to your local Red Cross or Federated campaign.

New York ranks first among the eastern states in honey production.
