Editorial TO EACH HIS OWN

by Judy Bliss

Each of us have different ideas, values and goals in life. These may be materialistic or non-materialistic in aspect.

The thing that many of us have yet to learn is this difference. Too many students expect their classmates to share their values and ideas. We should respect each other's talents rather than ridicule them because we don't understand them.

There are two basic groups of students as I see them today in schools; one is the student who puts value on being remembered and places high emphasis on material things that another person can see or touch. The second group are the people who put value on non-material things such as friendship, understanding, and really caring about the well being of their neighbors. These types of things do not leave a visible mark to remember, but we need this type of people as well as the materialistic ones.

This split also seems evident in the vocations each of us plan to pursue. Artists, writers, construction workers, scientists, and business men may fall in the material group, where as social workers, teachers, nurses, and other people who deal with people are in the non-materialistic group.

There have been many disputes and misunderstandings among students all because of their failure to realize this difference for instance, an art student who feels that this world needs cleaning up may feel that the only way it could be made beautiful is through art and physical building. Another student who also feels the world needs cleaning up might find the answer by investigating people's social problems which are hindering and making impossible beautification.

What we need to learn as students is that both of these approaches to life are valid and are needed. However, we must learn to work them out together because one cannot work without the other. Respect for each other's ideals and values must be learned now while we're still young so that when we enter the world alone, we will be able to accept others for what they are.

Panther Prowl TRACK

by Brian Cannon

On Wednesday, May 9, Andover hosted its first home Track Meet of the season with Belfast and Friendship participating. The final score saw Andover trail Friendship by six points with an 85 - 79 score. Belfast totaled seven points.

Taking first places for Andover were Gus Weber in the Shot Put, Dennis Ordiway in the 100 yd. Dash and Mike Bliss in the Mile Run. The 880 Relay of Dennis Ordiway, Brian Cannon, Steve Scott and Dave Haugh, took first place while the Mile Relay of Rick Cahill, Chris Mattison, Chad Grossman and Roger Godown, also took first place.

The Panthers who took only five first places showed depth by taking numerous second and third places. Gus Weber second in the Discus, Chad Grossman second in the Pole Vault, and Tom Weibezahl second in the 180 Low Hurdles. Others taking seconds were Brian Cannon in the Triple Jump, Dave Haugh in the 220, Bill Cornell in the High Jump and Steve Walker in the Two Mile. Shawn McCormick broke the school record in the 120 High Hurdles with a time of :20.3 which is four-tenths of a second better than the old record.

The Wellsville Spring Day Meet was held on Saturday, May 12 with seventeen schools participating. Andover only brought nine men to the Meet because entries were based on qualifying times. It should be noted that this was the first time Andover has gone to the Annual Meet in several years and we were the second smallest school there. As a team the Panthers scored only one point which was earned by the 440 Relay Team of Dennis Ordiway, Mike Bliss, Bill Cornell and Roger Godown with a time of :51.3. Gus Weber has his best throw of his career with a heave of 38'8" in the Shot Put. Brian Cannon placed seventh in the Triple Jump while the 880 Relay of Dennis Ordiway, Brian Cannon, Cecil Harvey and Francis Opyke placed seventh with a time of 1:47.0. There was bad weather throughout the Meet and heavy rain which kept the time down.

The Beginning Of The Red Cross

Jean Henri Dunant, a Swiss philanthropist, founded the International Red Cross. He was touring Italy in 1859 during the Austro-Sardinian War. Dunant saw the field at Solferino the day after 40,000 men had been killed or wounded in battle. Horrified at the suffering of the wounded, he formed a group of volunteers to help him.

In 1862, Dunant published a pamphlet called Un Souvenir de Solferino. It ended with the plea, "Would it not be possible to found and organize in all civilized countries permanent societies of volunteers who in time of war would give help to the wounded without regard for nationality?" The appeal won favorable response. On October 26, 1863, delegates from 18 nations and several charitable organizations met in Geneva to discuss Dunant's idea. This conference laid the groundwork for the Red Cross movement and chose the organization's symbol.

Delegates from 12 European nations met in Geneva in August, 1864, on invitation from the Swiss Federal Council. Two observers from the U. S. attended. Out of the meeting came the First Geneva (or Red Cross) Convention. Later treaties amended and improved it.

May 21 is Red Cross Week this year; support your local Red Cross.

On Tuesday, May 8, Andover played Belmont at home. The Panthers turned in a fantastic performance as they whipped opponents by a score of 10 - 3.

Andover, with Steve Dunham in control, held Belmont scoreless until the last inning, when infield errors attributed to Belmont's three runs. The boys' gym classes should be commended for the fine job they did with the baseball field preceding the game.

On Monday, May 14, Andover had another stuning win against Angelica by a score of 11 - 4. Three Panther pitchers were used in the effort. George "Vida" Burger and Tom MacMichael each for three innings and the final inning by Steven Dunham. A strong defense backed our pitchers with a key "sneak" pick-off play by Mike "Mickey" Dibble on first.

Dibble also hit a bases loaded triple to lead the offense along with a triple by Pat "Willie" Mulconery. Dave "the Babe" Dodge also had two doubles, but will be sidelined for a while after receiving a hairline fracture of his ankle in the top of the sixth while sliding into second. Strong base running contributed to the win highlighted by George Burger who had the opponent's pitcher on edge with his two stolen bases. Congratulations, boys and Coach — you did a fine job.

FAMOUS FORTS

LONDON LANDMARK. The Tower of London is really 13 towers. One known as the White Tower is the oldest part of the fortress. It was begun by William the Conqueror in 1078. It's now a museum in which are displayed old arms and armor.

WHERE THERE'S A WALL... there's a way. Krewertheim on the Main is a town near Wurzburg in the Federal Republic of Germany. A defense tower there is some 1,200 years old. Because its walls were considered a traffic menace, the town council decided to move the tower in its entirety. An iron grate recently was slipped underneath the stable foundation. The tower is now "out of the way" and yet remains standing for admiring tourists.
