Marie McFadden Memorial Awards

Another special award was added this year to the long list of awards and presentations given to a graduating senior of Andover Central School. The award, a dictionary given by the family of the late Marie C. McFadden, in honor of her many teaching years at Andover, is to be an annual presentation. Barbara Leonard was the recipient of this year's Dictionary Award.

The criteria for receiving this honor are as follows. The recipient must be a senior, with an average or above in scholastic achievement, a student showing sustained determination and enthusiasm in the pursuit of knowledge, and if possible the son or daughter of a former student of Mrs. McFadden. The final decision is made by the Andover Faculty award committee.

In addition to this a Memorial Painting given by the family, was also presented at Commencement to the Andover Central School. This oil painting, titled "Looking Up" by the artist Bob Denny, is described as a "childhood recollection of looking up through autumn colors to the sky". Bob Denny's most effective works deal with light shining through trees — the lights taking on a rather monochromatic stained glass effect. The painting will be hung in the senior high English room. Also presented at the same time was a dictionary for the high school library.

Our Best Wishes To The Class of '73

There's a big step ahead from graduation, whether you will further your education or start a career. More than likely, you've already made some commitment to the future, and the future promises many plans and varied decisions. As responsible adults, you'll be making financial decisions too. If we can help in any way, don't hesitate to call on us... we've been through it so many times before. And besides, it helps to know someone at "the Citz".
