Ad Warning

We have run several warnings concerning insertion orders from an Indianapolis-based firm advertising for truck drivers. The ads themselves are deceptive, promising jobs, then requiring payments for "training". The orders also promise payment on receipt of tear sheets.
 We strongly recommend that no one accept these ads before contacting New York Press Association Central Office for further information.
 The orders come from a variety of addresses in Indianapolis, under a variety of names: World-Wide Systems, Atlas Systems, Coastway American Systems, Rapidway Systems, Great Lake Developments, New Horizons Unlimited, Associated Systems, and Roads and Lands.
 At the same time, New York State weeklies are receiving insertion orders from Nationwide Advertising Services, representing Aero Mayflower Transit Company. Aero Mayflower is also based in Indianapolis, and the copy in these ads is similar to that of the suspect ads above.
 However, Aero Mayflower IS NO WAY connected with World Wide Systems, et. al., and these orders are legitimate, according to the Indianapolis Better Business Bureau.
 If you are in any way confused as to the source of any insertion orders for ads for truck drivers, please give us a call. Comparison of copy, mailing addresses, and trade names with our file can usually determine the reliability of the order.
