CRAIG STATE PROJECT

by Teresa Polmateer

The Health Class trip to Craig State Colony on October 16 has had quite a good effect on the students who participated. While there, we learned of a house on the property which helps to teach the residents how to do everyday housework such as dusting, mopping, sweeping, and many other things. It also helps to get these people ready for a job in the community.

The Home Economics teacher of Craig State is in great need of furniture, paintings, old clothing, especially prom dresses and sports jackets for the formal dance they have each year, and whatever other household items are necessary for a house. The students have decided to become involved by having a drive to collect these materials. We need everyone in the community to participate in order to make this project a success. Give whatever you can. It doesn't matter if it's the same donation as your neighbor's because it's better to have a surplus of something than nothing at all.

The committee for this drive consists of some of the Health Class students. The committee is: Chairwoman - DeeDee Gorsuch; Co-Chairwoman - Elaine Bronson; Advertising - Sara J. Rose, Vicky Bird, Mary Nevil, and Teresa Polmateer; and in charge of transportation are Brian Lynch and Mike Dibble. We have designated our pick-up date as November 9 and delivery date at Craig State as November 10, Friday and Saturday, respectively. If you have any questions please feel free to call 478-4611 or 478-8155.

Craig State needs your help. Don't be afraid to become involved as we have. Clean out those attics and garages and feel good about it because you're giving the materials to people who really need them and will use them. Thank you.

Cross Country

by Charlie Dougherty

On Tuesday, October 23, the Cross Country team traveled to Alfred-Almond for a meet with Canisteo, Savona and Alfred-Almond. Canisteo won the meet with 40 points, Alfred-Almond was second with 41 and Andover was defeated by Savona by a score of 63 to 64.

Top finishers for Andover were: Calvin "Boney" Shaw with a fifth place, John Davis with ninth, Chris Mattison with twelfth and Charlie Dougherty with 15. The rest of the Andover squad was scattered on down.

On Thursday, the team went to Portville and got a third place against powerful teams from Alfred-Almond and Portville. Andover's top finisher was Calvin Shaw with sixth place. John Davis was seventh and Charlie Dougherty won tenth. Chris Mattison and Marty Grossman finished with fourteenth and sixteenth, respectively.

On Tuesday, the team will travel to Bolivar for the Conference Championships. The team is very young and whatever their finish at Bolivar is, we are very proud of this team.

Pantherettes

The girls ended their successful soccer season with a tie for second place with Scio. This is the highest in the Southern League the girls have ever placed.

Alfred-Almond took first for the Southern League and they will play Fillmore which is first, for the Northern League.

The girls will for the first time, have a Volley Ball team starting in November. Let's hope they do as well in volleyball as they did in soccer!

Halloween is a day on which children play pranks. Originally called All Hallow's Eve, because it fell on October 31, the eve of All Saints' Day, the name was later shortened to Halloween. As is often the case Halloween is an example of the combination of a pagan festival and of Christian worship. Both the Romans and the ancient Britons celebrated an autumn holiday at this date. Many of the customs of Halloween are based on beliefs and fears of past times. Some of them date back to the ancient druids, who encouraged superstition because it gave them power.

One of the beliefs of pagan Ireland was that on this night the dead could return to Earth as witches, goblins, ghosts, black cats or in other weird forms. The date marked the end of summer, or the time when the sun retreated before the powers of darkness. All the dark underworld characters had their wicked carnival of triumph, when they were supposed to engage in all sorts of malicious mischief. Against them any kind of light was considered a protection. Hence there arose the custom of building great bonfires on hill-tops and carrying blazing torches all around the fields. As this custom fell into disuse, candles replaced the fires. Wych-elm, witch hazel, and holly were also thought to furnish protection.

An old Scotch superstition which is still carried out today in Halloween decorations, was that witches—those who had sold their souls to the devil—left in their beds on Halloween night a stick made by magic to look like themselves. Then they would fly up the chimney and off through the sky on a broomstick, attended by black cats.

Such fears and superstitions no longer exist and Halloween has become all fun. The pranks and practical jokes appropriate to the night are enjoyed particularly by the young, because they love to make believe they are witches or ghosts or goblins and to see the grownups pretend to be frightened. The use of apples and nuts is associated with the idea of harvest. The countless ways of telling Halloween fortunes are based on the superstition that magic powers were abroad and could be used for that one night.

SOCCER

Last week our Panther Squad of Soccer ended in a two game defeat. The first was home as was the second against Belmont. Andover was defeated 3 - 1. Gary Barden put the point on the board for Andover. Our team played well, but could not seem to score. Goalie Rick Rouse was taken to the hospital with a head injury, but was all right and returned home after X-rays.

The next and final game for the Panthers was also a defeatful game as Wellsville slipped by the Panthers 2 - 1. Our goal was scored on a power-play after Rich Cahill took a corner kick. Gary Barden got the goal for a total record of 16 goals this season.

Our team finished its season with a 4 win, 8 loss season. The team was strong, but very young and I'm sure next year will prove a more promising season as the team grows a year older.

10 Weeks Tests

Nora Kelley

The 10-weeks tests will be given November 5 - 8.
