Attends National Trust Conference

Paul E. Kilbane, Senior Vice President and Trust Officer of The Citizens National Bank & Trust Company, recently attended the 55th Annual National Trust Conference sponsored by The American Bankers Association.

Over 2498 delegates, from 48 states, Canada and Puerto Rico registered for this conference, which was held in San Francisco California.

The theme of the conference, "Trust: Today, Tomorrow" reflected the concern of bank trust officers with the opportunities and issues facing the trust business now, and with the trends and the events that will be felt in the future.

Mr. Kilbane attended several workshops, dealing with community banks, marketing, and investments.

Highlights of the annual conference included addresses to the delegates by The Honorable Alan Cranston, United States Senator from California, The Honorable James E. Smith, Comptroller of the Currency, The Honorable Ray Garrett, Jr., Chairman, Securities and Exchange Commission, and Dan Rather, CBS Newscaster.
