Editorial

Probably the greatest change in our government took place this summer when former President Nixon resigned and Gerald Ford took over the top executive position in our government. Much controversy has sprung from the change in office and changes took place quite noticeably.

One apparent change was Ford's respect and openness with the press. It seemed like the best move ever made by past presidents as well as Ford to bring in the public and open their doors. But will the press represent him fairly and use this privilege to the best advantage of the people?

In the meantime, we find pictures in the news representing the President as one has never before been shown such as, on a trampoline with his children or just after his daily swim. The press has found the President to be a fascinating man, but this fascination came only when an ordinary man who has taken to the pool every day for years, who has taught his children that their ideas are as important as anyone else's, and who, like thousands and millions of other Americans, attends church to strengthen and verify his belief in God, was given a different title, namely President of these United States.

Believe it or not, the President is human and President Ford has taken a great step in verifying this fact even though all the controversy of a pardon for the former President Nixon.

FHA News

by Cindy Tomm

Dear the Future Homemakers of America are working to gether to increase membership. Many people have come with the wrong impression that FHA is only for girls interested in cooking and sewing. But this is a false statement! FHA is open to boys and is an organization for personal family and community growth.

One of these goals is to start an FHA for any seventh or eighth grade girl interested. Another is to encourage the senior high boys to look into FHA this year and the coming years.

I would also like to remind all members to pay their dues by October 1. If any ninth grade girls are interested, now is the time to join FHA.
