"AND THE WALLS CAME TUMBLING DOWN" — This was one of the closing scenes late last Thursday afternoon as the huge bulldozer at the bottom right of the picture just finished taking "a big bite" out of the ground floor level and our News photographer caught one of the walls in mid-air. As we had predicted last week, the building was completely razed by Friday evening with the rubble hauled away and the site filled in and neatly graded up by the first of the week. (News Photo)

Assemblyman James "Jim" Emery "Meets the Allegany County Press" at his annual News Conference in a "no-holds, no questions barred" type of questions and answers session.

Emery's Assembly Record Follows Voters Wishes

Assemblyman James Emery announced one of the most important measures of the entire press conference, stating that when the Assembly follows the wishes and mandates of the voters from his district whose opinions he derives from his questionnaires had his many public appearances and discussions "with the people". And, when asked about statements regarding his voting made in a newsletter sent out by his opponent, he explained the true circumstances and showed reporters how misleading and inaccurate they were.

In answering our question about recent legislation regarding campaign spending by candidates, he stated that it should be enforced by the agency that is charged with this responsibility". (The question arose as a result of an apparent violation of the recently passed election law by Democratic candidates Paul Samuels and Hugh Carey in their campaign to secure the Democratic nomination to run for Governor).

Assemblyman Emery also stated that he would seek legislation that would aid municipal hospitals as Wellsville's to institute "out-patient" treatment.

Time Marches On

Because time marches on, the Chamber of Commerce will sponsor a Variety Show this year rather than its usual Minstrel Show and on one evening, Friday, November 8 instead of November 1 and 2.

A Harvest Of Talent will feature favorite local groups who will entertain you in their customary tradition and it is rumored that some of the End Men may be in evidence, too.

Save this date — November 8 — for music and fun at the Andover Central School, eight o'clock curtain time. Tickets will be available from ACS students and at the door.

The Mayor's Column

by James Bliss

The Public Service Commission held a prehearing session on Niagara Mohawks proposed 115 kv. transmission line between Wellsville and Andover, Tuesday, October 22. Our consulting engineer and myself attended this meeting to determine how the proposed project would relate to our own sub-station plans and whether property owners in the Village might be affected. Anyone interested in the proposed right of way of the Niagara Mohawk project can stop at the Village Office where an aerial map of the area is on display.

Two additional hearings are scheduled in November and January. The P.S.C. will decide whether to certify the proposed route based on testimony given during these next two meetings. Therefore anyone concerned about the proposed routes should make themselves heard at these hearings. Please contact me if you want more information.

This week the Village Crew flushed out the water main on Water Street, if the residents on the street between Rt. 21 and Frank Cahill's find that the water has not cleared up please notify the Village Office.
