Editorial

Everything seems "fine and dandy" here at ACS; at least every one seems to be satisfied. The truth is, I feel there is less satisfaction than people let on. But if something is wrong, why hasn't anybody done something or let others know? There could be a number of us that feel the same way. A Salada Tea bag that I recently read (they're the ones with the smart remarks on the tag) said something to the effect that contentment will eventually stop progress and that dissatisfaction motivates success. It isn't saying that it is necessary to find fault with every minor detail of your life. It is saying that one shouldn't be content with something while it is against one's better judgement or if there is something greater and of more benefit to be had.

The next question one might ask is how one single individual can bring about a change. First, others must know the reasons against the present object or system. Then, there should be an alternative to the problem suggested. It isn't much good to say you want a system changed or something altered if you have no idea how to alter it or what to change it to.

If you are all prepared with your reasons and plans, and feel you might have a slight chance of giving it solid support, take it to someone who might be able to help you do something about it. Don't worry about the friction it will always be there to make sure what you do has solid reasoning and logic to back it up. Don't know who to talk to or see? There are many people around, including myself, willing to take time or give you some advice, but you can't do too much about it until you let people know what you're up to. And so what if someone laughs, maybe there's someone else who won't. The joke just may be on the one who laughed when something good comes of your idea.

Now, I have a question. How many of you are satisfied with yourself? You say you could be doing better? So could I. The best thing to do is to look ourselves over one more time. I guess then maybe we ought to try and change for the better. No one says you have to pull a complete reversal and turn into a saintly angel, because no one is perfect, but things could be better. It's up to someone to start questioning the things taken for granted as final and satisfactory and possibly make a change for the better. Maybe that someone will have to be one of us, maybe me or you.

Senior Play

The senior play, "Meet Me At The Prom", a comedy in three acts, by James Reach will be presented on December 12 and 13. On December 12 there will be a matinee for all students. On December 13 the seniors will present the play for the public and students. The cast is busy rehearsing under the direction of Mr. Richard Nicol.

Senior Interview

Miss Laurie Ann Burns, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Burns is the senior of the week. She was born October 18, 1957. She has six brothers: Don, Dave, Dan, Doug, Dale and Dane. She also has one sister, Linda.

Laurie is majoring in Nurse's Aide at BOCES in Belmont. She has been a member of Future Nurses for four years and GAA for two years.

Her future plans are undecided. We all wish her the best of luck!

FHA News

On November 13, twenty-two Future Homemakers from Andover joined the Alfred-Almond girls to attend the Central Western B District Fall Rally in Rushford.

The program started at 2 o'clock with a welcome from the Rushford Principal, followed by a scavenger hunt, introduction of officers and the new District Advisor, and the opening ceremony with Cindy Tomm presiding. The guest speaker was Miss Amy Nelson, National F.H.A. Vice President. A report was given on Oswegatchie Camp, and a speech on our theme, "Increasing Membership" was given by our National Committee member, Sara Pantone.

The program was concluded with an inspiration service by the officers, announcements and the closing ceremony by Cindy Tomm. The Rally went very well. After the program the girls adjourned to the cafeteria for dinner.

The FHA sale of Christmas products has been extended for two more weeks to raise money for the Mother-Daughter Banquet.

PSAT Test

If you happened to see a couple of juniors stumbling along the sidewalks about nine o'clock Saturday morning, they weren't lost. They were just going to school to take the PSAT/NMSQT Test. PSAT/NMSQT stands for Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test/National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test.

Eleven people took the test which was proctored by Mr. Russell. They were:

- Gary Barden
- Diane Bliss
- John Davis
- Russell Godown
- Marty Grossman
- Brian Halsey
- Brenda Haugh
- Rob Hyland
- Lisa Marsh
- Jay MacMichael
- Curt Vars

If any of these students place in the top 2% of the students taking the exam they will be awarded a Citation of Merit. If they are in the top 10% of the top 2% they will be awarded a $1,000 scholarship.

This scholarship is good in any of the fifty states no matter what the student's home state is.

Senior Interview

On April 6, 1957, Mr. and Mrs. Wellman Burch had their fifth child and first son. His name is Wellman Robert Burch, Jr. — "Bobby" has four older sisters — Elaine, Kathleen, Nancy and Betty and a younger brother, Gary.

While at ACS Bobby has been very active. He is this year's Senior Class Student Council Representative and he took second place in the American History Award. Bob is also on the Yearbook Staff in the advertising department. Along with being a three-year member of the National Honor Society and a two-year participant in the PTSA, Bobby was "Spook" Mullins in the Junior Play.

Bobby's majors in high school include math, science and Latin. He plans to attend Alfred University or SSUNY at Alfred Ag-Tech upon graduation. We all wish Bob the best of luck in his future.
