Scout Week is being observed in Greenwood with snow-sculpturing and the decorating of windows in the business district. The Cub Scouts have a very attractive window display in the Town Hall window with objects the boys have made. Their theme goes along with the Bi-Centennial year. All the Cubs have their name on a star which forms part of the background of their display. Chaffee's Hardware window presents the Boy Scouts work. All the boys who have belonged to Scouts since it started are listed. Stars in front of the names show who has earned their Eagle Award. The various leaders through the years are listed also. Some projects the boys have completed, antique, old Scout Books, and magazines are a few of the things of interest you will find in looking at this window. Everyone in Greenwood congratulates the boys and their leaders on another good year completed and hope you have many more.

The Clergy Review

Rev. Francis J. Zmoyanski Blessed Sacrament, Andover, and St. John of the Cross, Whitesville, AMERICA, THE GREAT... Every great nation became great when its people - people make a nation what it is - worked hard to advance themselves in every way possible physically, intellectually, materially, spiritually. Our ancestral founders perspired profusely to improve their inspirations before God and men. Though imperfect, as are all human beings, they at least tried to improve themselves and others around them. To progress in wisdom and age before God and men, they tried to keep the laws of God and men. Hence they made this a great nation under God with numerous liberties and opportunities for many, for many more than in other parts of the world. But in this past decade too many have arrogantly minimized the laws of God and men. The results? Quite obvious... we are retreating! How much farther will we continue to head down before we see the pattern of self-destruction bring on our total moral decline and internal collapse? History shows: people will use their energies and powers toward self-improvement or toward self-ruination; human nature of man has not changed, only the nature on the stage of life have; a consistent pattern constantly reappears a pattern for progression and ruination, and people decide which they will follow. Furthermore, perennial history demonstrates quite vividly; the paths of self-glorification are the divine precepts and the steps of self-degradation are human rejection of those noble teachings and regulations. Will we learn from the ideas and lessons of historical past before it's too late? Will we obediently return to the divine precepts of the Good Book, to its laws of the Ten Commandments, its precepts of love and justice? Will we continue on the slippery, ruinous road of Sodom and Gomorrah? Or will we imitate the people of Nineveh and Paul, Mary Magdalen, the Prodigal Son and their repentant return to God? From the past mistakes and experiences we can and must learn how to improve ourselves. It is never too late to come back to God and start all over again! Whereas abundance the grace of God can prevail even more, for there is no evil out of which some good cannot come. With God's help in our new state of repentance, we can pull ourselves up even further than we were before, our decline. Let this bi-centennial birthday be a rebirth of the spirit of God in all of us, as we have always trusted in God and with His graces we have started to cooperate anew for our total rebirth of the spirit of God in with us. Let us be with God! God bless us one and all! More than 90 per cent of the nation's farmland is included in self-governed soil conservation districts.
