NOW THAT "SPRING HAS SPRUNG" — BEWARE An Editorial OF THE "CON ARTISTS"

While the proverbial young man's fancy in Spring turns to thoughts of love and baseball, the perennial swindler delights in fanciful schemes and questionable door-to-door practices to eatch the consumer unaware, Attorney General Louis J. Lefkowitz warned.

The Attorney General said this week has brought complaints of schemes and practices designed to separate the consumer from his hard earned money. He said the records of the Bureau of Consumers Frauds and Protection of his office show that unscrupulous itinerant pitchmen, who are not to be confined with representatives of reputable sales companies, invade suburbia each spring, equipped with every gimmick and dodge in the book.

Their wares range from portable items which can be demonstrated in the home to shrubbery and top soil which may turn out to contain chemicals harmful to plant and animal life.

He noted that a number of suburbanites have complained of being "trimmed" by so-called "tree surgeons" who charge exorbitant prices of up to $2,000. Investigations have revealed that in some cases, itinerant tree surgeons did not obtain necessary permits required for tree removal, instead had the home owners obtain the permits, thereby placing the entire liability for an accident or property damage on the home owner.

The Current "favorite" on the gyp parade is the "bait" and "switch" game with one of its stated purposes: to get the "consumer's blood" in the sale of home improvements. This is done by using the name of prominent firms and conducting a "bait" advertising campaign designed to "switch" customers from chesp advertised merchandise to more expensive products.

Attorney General Louis J. Lefkowitz said he has drawn up the following rules to aid in protecting consumers from being the victims of unscrupulous sales

- 1. Ask to see the credentials of any sales representative who calls at your door.
- 2. Check the sales price of services or merchandise with your local merchant.
- 3. Ask if the sales price includes installation and delivery. If you want these services included, tell the salesman to write a statement to that effect in the contract, during which it will be performed.
- 4. In the case of home improvements, never sign a statement that the work is complete until it actually sis. If you sign such a statement before the work is finished, as a general rule you will have to make full payment whether or not the contractor fulfills his agreement.
 - 5. Check the reputation of the salesman and his company with your local Chamber of Commerce or Better Business Bureau.
 - 6. Never permit merchandise to be left with you "on approval". The salesman may not return and you will find yourself receiving a bill for an article which you do not want.
- 7. Remember that the legitimate salesman; who represents the vast majority of resident and door-todoor sales representatives, invite your investigation.
- 8. If you feel you have been victimized by an unfair or fraudulent sales practice, report the fact to the Bureau of Consumer Frauds and Protection of the Attorney General's Office, 80 Centre Street, New York 13. COrtland 7-9800.

Still on the matter of education in the state, a nevent lifticle is the New York Times caught my eye and frankly, disturbed me greatly. I'll quote the first sentence and you can easily see why "Aithough New York City would lose $10 Million in state school aid under Governor Carey's proposed budget cuts, the city would stil fare far better than the rest of the state in terms of dollars per popil sest."

That rather smarting statement from the prestigious and always wow.
