Eighteen year old Cindy Dennison, a Senior at Greenwood Central, has accomplished a goal she set last year when she placed second in the FFA Sub-State level of public speaking competition. She said, "I'm going to be back next year and win". This year she recently won the Sub-State level competition of public speaking. She will be one of three finalists in the state contest during the FFA Convention in April. Miss Dennison was named as Representative of the Greenwood Chapter to the District Contest in Bath which she won. She went on to win the District and the Sub-State contests. In the last she competed with top winners from Western and Central New York Chapters who reached the Sub-State level in the same manner as Cindy.

Miss Dennison is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Dennison of West Greenwood. She has been accepted at the State Agricultural and Technical College at Alfred, Morrisville and Delhi. She is President of the Greenwood Chapter. Last year she was Student Council President. She is a member of the Greenwood Chapter National Honor Society. She has been a cheerleader for two years, is a member of the School Band and Jazz Ensemble and is on the Yearbook Staff. She is the Steuben County Dairyland Sweetheart for 1975-76 and a member of the West Greenwood Grange. She also teaches a Sunday School Class at the Greenwood United Methodist Church. She takes much of her farm heritage as the basis for her speeches.

Last year she spoke on the role of farm women, but included a defense of farm life. This year her speech centers on the values of life in a rural community and tells of lessons learned by farm members who work together and who share the joys and disappointments of farm life. "I believe farming provides education for life and that no other occupation teaches so much about high life growth and maturity in such a variety of ways".

Sheldon Atherton is the FFA Advisor at Greenwood and is pleased with Miss Dennison's accomplishments. He does not teach a formal vocational agriculture program but a series of mini-courses dealing with various aspects of agriculture and related business.
