

Mr. and Mrs. George E. Wilsey, Jr.

Wilsey-Mattison Exchange Vows in Alfred Station S. D. Baptist Church

The Alfred Station Seventh Day Baptist Church was the setting for the marriage of Miss Yvonne Mattison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. Reid Mattison of Andover, and George E. Wilsey, Jr. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Wilsey, Sr., of Honeoye Falls.

The Rev. Rex E. Zwiebel, pastor officiated for the July 10, 1976, double-ring ceremony with Mr. Stephen Crandall of Alfred as the organist. Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Thorngate III sang a duet, "One Hand, One Heart", and Mrs. Thorngate sang "The Lord's Prayer".

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of ivory eyelet, designed by herself and fashioned by her mother. It featured tiny caped sleeves, trimmed with lace, and a scoop neckline with a wide collar covered with pure silk appliqued with cotton lace. The same lace was appliqued around the bottom of the gown above a pure silk ruffle. The end of the train was fashioned to repeat the design of the collar. Her fingertip veil of silk illusion was attached to a headpiece made of handmade silk roses and rosebuds and dried baby's breath. She carried a large garden basket of pink Sweetheart Roses, Baby's Breath and Fern.

Mrs. Robert Daugherty of Chicago, Ill., was Matron-of-Honor with Mrs. Stephen Thorngate III of Milton, Wis., and Mrs. Harold Slason Jr. of Addison serving as attendants. They wore identical gowns of ivory cotton printed with tiny, multi-colored flowers. Ivory, polished cotton, capelet collars, edged with handmade eyelet scalloped edging, topped the bodices with Empire waistlines. Each skirt had an insert made of ivory eyelet ruffles with a pink streamer bow at the top of the insert. Each attendant carried a garden basket of wild flowers with pink ribbon streamers.

Malerie Gugino of Rochester was flower girl for her cousin's wedding. Her dress of ivory eyelet was also designed by the bride. It had a square neckline with butterfly wing capped sleeves. A box pleat at the front of the bodice was trimmed with antique pearl buttons and a pink ribbon streamer. The gathered skirt from the back waistline. A scalloped ruffle surrounded the bottom of the skirt.

Mr. Philip Donahue was best man and serving as ushers were Richard Wilsey, brother of the groom, and Christian Mattison, brother of the bride. All wore brown tuxedos with pink, ruffled shirts.

Brian Treat, of Honeoye Falls was ring-bearer for his Uncle's wedding. He wore an ivory suit, with vest and a brown shirt and a tan bow tie.

Baskets of wild flowers and pink pew bows decorated the church.

Mr. Joseph Canale, at the organ and his son, Patrick, at the drums, entertained over one hundred and fifty guests at the Wellsville Country Club. The bride's brother, Christian Mattison also sang several selections at the reception where a buffet luncheon was served. Guests included those from Maryland, Illinois and Wisconsin.

After a wedding trip to Connecticut, Massachusetts and Rhode Island the couple are at home at 65 Mapewood Ave., in Honeoye Falls, New York.

The bride is a 1974 graduate of Bryant and Stratton Business Institute and is employed by the Woods, Oviatt, Gilman, Sturman and Clarke Law Firm, in Rochester.

Mr. Wilsey was in the U.S. Army for five years, one of which was in Vietnam. He is employed by Victor Chrysler-Plymouth in Honeoye Falls.

A prenuptial variety shower was given by a cousin of the bride, Mrs. Harold Slason, Jr. A pantry shower was given by Mrs. Rodney Treat sister of the groom, and a variety shower was given by Mrs. Gail Carballo, an office associate.

The rehearsal dinner was given by the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George G. Wilsey, Sr., at the Coachlight Inn in Hornell.
