Mrs. Lawrence Acker of Wellsville reports that Francis Acker is gaining and has gained 12 pounds since he left Bethesda Hospital.

Mrs. Elizabeth Canty of Belmont came Saturday and took her mother, Mrs. Hulda McDonough to Hornell, shopping.

Basketball Teams — Varsity and JV's went to Canaseraga Tuesday and to Cohocton Friday.

Vandals can't resist a target. An adult or big teen-ager by the snow, stood next to the electric meter on the former Young and Young Store, owned by Harland Knight and deliberately hit the glass breaking a large piece from it. The glass is a quarter inch thick and it took a hard blow to break it. Such persons don't have any pride in their Town. Mr. Knight was put to great expense last year to cover the windows so the store would look all right for the Bi-Centennial. He put the meter on the side of the store so he could have electricity when he needed it. The store next door was the target until there was no more to break and that is why Mr. Knight had to cover his windows and the Town had to buy the building.

James A. McCormick, 80, died unexpectedly Tuesday at his home in Niagara Falls. He was born in Greenwood and managed a feed mill here several years, living with his sister, Miss Gertrude McCormick. He had been a resident of Niagara Falls for the past 50 years. He was a former U.S. Postal Service employee, retiring in 1962 with 40 years service. He was a member of St. Theresa's Church of Niagara Falls, and the Church's Holy Name Society and St. Vincent de Paul Society. He was a member of the American Postal Workers Union and served as its local President as well as other union positions. His wife was the former Helen Eaton McCormick of Hornell.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Mary McDonald McCormick at home; one brother, Theodore; one sister, Miss Teresa McCormick, both of Rexville; and several nieces and nephews.

Friends called at the Curry Funeral Home in Hornell, Thursday, where a prayer service was held Friday at 9 a. m., followed by a Mass of Christian Burial at 10 a. m., at St. Mary's Church in Rexville. Burial was in St. Anne's Cemetery, Hornell.

Mrs. McCormick, her son, Mr. and Mrs. Tom McDonald and family of Williamsville came. Mr. and Mrs. Luke Hambruch of Gasport and Miss Betty McCormick of Syracuse came and spent the weekend with their brother, Leo McCormick. From here nieces and nephews, Mrs. Claude Wallace, Mr. and Mrs. Linford Wallace, Leo McCormick, Mrs. Anne Cerrillo, Mrs. Eugenia Vance of Canisteo, Mr. and Mrs. Regis McCormick, Mr. and Mrs. Cyril McCormick of Almond and Theodore and Miss Theresa McCormick of Rexville attended the funeral.

Milo Downey of the Christian Hollow Road, entered the Jones Memorial Hospital, Wellsville, on Monday for medical treatment.

The Principal's Newsletter contained a blank for parents to fill out concerning BOCES for the 1977-78 school year. The Board held a brief meeting Monday night and tabled the BOCES question for further study. Jean Marcotte placement and follow up coordinator for BOCES Occupational Centers will meet with the Board on February 14 to report on placement of graduates from BOCES. By then Principal Gary Moore expects to have more returns from questionnaires for a more complete survey report. The students response to the questionnaire was very much in favor of the program — 73 yes for continued participation and 4 no. Fifty-six said they would attend BOCES classes if they could and 15 no.

There are now 30 of the 100 High School students attending the Occupational Center. This is one of the highest percentages of schools in the county. Lack of full-time program in vocational agriculture or business is a factor in the high number who attend BOCES. One of the questions asked — since it costs the District $1300 per student to attend the Occupational Center, is it a worthwhile expense. Most of the students said it was and those opposed said it was too expensive and their parents were concerned about their school taxes.

The Board also reviewed the Cafeteria Program and approved work on two mobile home units given the District by the Board of Cooperative Educational Services. The Cafeteria operated through the end of December with a small profit. Principal Gary Moore cited the "good Cafeteria Staff" as the major factor in the financial achievement. They also use surplus food. The Board reviewed recommendations of a representative of the State Education Department School Lunch Program following a recent visit to the Cafeteria. Mr. Moore is to prepare changes in the application forms for free and reduced price lunches.

The mobile homes donated by BOCES are trailers brought into the area by the Department of Housing and Urban Development following the 1972 flood. Stripped of furniture and appliances, they will be used for storage. The Board approved installation of overhead doors by the Overhead Door Company of Canisteo Valley at a total cost of $271.50 for each door for easy access for storage of large items.

The Board learned that four Alfred University graduate students in the Department of Psychology are spending 15 days at Greenwood Central School working as teachers aides and learning about school and classroom programs. The students are under the direction of Dr. Joel Schorr and will be in school until January 27. The Board directed Mr. Moore to work out an arrangement with Alfred University to secure Psychologist Services for testing individuals and to meet requirements needed to meet regulations of the new law concerning handicapped children.

The Board directed the special pool used in the swimming pool during the installation of the water conditioning system be taken out since it is no longer needed.

The Board adopted the open meeting resolution potting the regular scheduled meetings of the Board will be held the second Tuesday each month at 8 P. M. The announcement of the resolution and announcement of special meetings will be given to area newspapers and radio stations.

We had about six inches of snow Monday and the wind came in the afternoon and all night so the Board Meeting was short and school was closed Tuesday, also the basketball game scheduled with Canaseraga was cancelled. The County Roads were filled and it was hard to bring in the snow blower.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Wallace have bought the former Herman Wallace home from Mr. and Mrs. Rolan. The Johnson family moved from there recently to Hornell. The Wallaces are doing extensive remodeling.

Greenwood Varsity Basketball lost its 7th game to Cohocton Friday night 68 - 53. By quarters 15 - 16 - 19 - 18 — 68; Greenwood 13 - 10 - 9 - 21 — 53. Individual scores: Adderly 3 - 7 - 13; Hoyt 2 - 2 - 6; Moore 1 - 2 - 4; Babcock 7 - 1 - 15; Good 2 - 1 - 6; Rollins 4 - 0 - 6; Holt 0-0-0; Reisman 1 - 0 - 2.

The 7th and 8th Grade Boys have lost both basketball games played but the 5th and 6th Grade Boys have won both 41 - 12 over Andover and 39 - 23 over Whitesville.

The Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints have invited the District to meet here in the Spring. Four days last week Elder Camp Wasset, Mrs. Essie Bassett, Mrs. Terry Smith and part time Mrs. Lorraine Warriner painted the church basement a mint green. They were given dinner by Mrs. Sally Bassett. Sunday the RLDS Church held a family dinner after services. They had expected a guest speaker from Rochester, but the weather and roads kept him home.

Mrs. Dolores Dytche and family recently moved from the Collins house at the head of Christian Hollow. Mr. and Mrs. Gary Clark moved to the farm house from Scio.

Over fifty members and friends of the United Methodist Church came to the family dish to pass dinner and Farewell for Rev. and Mrs. Ray Albaugh and Laurie Sunday. Helping serve the dinner were Mrs. Albert Lamphier, Mrs. Daniel Redmond, Mrs. Charles Smith and Mrs. Walter Jackson. Special decorated cakes were made by Mrs. Sheldon Atherton and served by her and her daughter. Also a horseshoe shaped cake with Good Luck decorated on it made by Mrs. Vicki Bosworth. Ham was furnished by the United Methodist Women. Robert Over led in the Dology for the dinner prayer. Mrs. Daniel Redmond was General Chairman and Master of Ceremonies for the program. She read a prayer from an old collection and a humorous sketch about what we expect of our minister. Mrs. Atherton had paraphrased a song to fit Rev. Albaugh, and sang the new words accompanied by Mrs. Clair Rollins, organist. Clinton York read an original poem to fit the farewell occasion. Mrs. Redmond presented Rev. and Mrs. Albaugh a parting gift and Rev. Albaugh responded with brief remarks. Robert Over with June Rollins at the piano, led in group singing of several songs from the Sunday School Book and Benediction was given by Rev. Albaugh.

A Committee of four met at the home of Mrs. Albert Lamphier Friday afternoon to make the program for the year of the United Methodist Women and those who take turns cleaning the church. The January meeting is this Thursday, January 20, at the Social Hall. Mrs. Lamphier will give the program and hostesses are Mrs. Hubert Foster and Mrs. Laverne Stephens. A special collection is taken.

The Annual Meeting of the Greenwood Volunteer Firemen will be held Monday, January 24 at the Fire Hall. Officers will be elected and the traditional oyster stew will be served under the direction of Lloyd and Duane Chaffee. The Company reported a net profit of $450 from the Boney Basketball game and the sale of 225 dozen doughnuts all day. Another doughnut sale and Spaghetti Supper will be held March 5. They also plan the Country and Western Music Jamboree July 31 and the Community Auction and Run-Down Sale, October 8.

The Firemen were called out at 2 A. M. Friday night for the Garage Fire of Mrs. Clayton Holt. She was asleep and her son Harley was out visiting and the fire alarm was sent in by a neighbor. Mrs. Angelo Eldridge who was up in the night. There was no known reason for the fire and it was too far gone to save. Mrs. Holt had just bought a '76 Chevvy and had comprehensive insurance on that. It was melted down as the gas tank blew up in the car by the heat of the fire. Other losses were a garden tractor snowmobile and riding lawn mower. She has Home Owners Insurance.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Redmond entertained the Stewart family for a Holiday dinner while their son Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Redmond and son Mark of Wisconsin were home. Mr. and Mrs. David Mays and two children of Buffalo were guests of his grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Fitzpatrick last Friday and

"Inside The State Capital"

By James L. Emery

Governor Carey seems to be playing around with one of his favorite games of "keep 'em guessing". Late in 1976 the Governor called a group of reporters together in Albany to make the rather startling announcement that the state had "a $1 billion problem." With that gem, most people expected another gloomy report when he delivered his "State of the State" message in early January.

Such was not the case, however. In fact, it was a very "upbeat" speech — very unlike those of the past he has delivered — and even offered the people of this state the comfort of a possible $200 million tax cut. Outside of the elimination of the Income Tax Surcharge (which we in the Republican Minority have been urging now for two years), the Governor didn't say where the rest of the money was coming from. Since there doesn't seem to be a windfall around, I assumed the state could very well have a "$1 billion, $200 million problem."

Then, to our amazement, he called legislators and the press to the Red Room of the Executive Chamber last week to give us what amounts to "a second message" which, in many ways, contradicts his "upbeat" assessment of the previous week. This time he painted a very dark picture, referring to the loss of many jobs and the general economic problems we face. In fact, most people were of the opinion that what he was really doing was setting the legislators up for the budget message which he was scheduled to deliver on January 18.

Meanwhile, the Governor added still another disappointing note to his "messages of confusion" last week when he indicated that he would ask for an extension of the $300 million Corporate Business Tax imposed in late 1975 and which has done so much harm to the business and industrial climate of the state. I find this, frankly incredible while his Commerce Commissioner, Mr. Dyson, goes around the state telling business and industrial leaders that the state is beginning to take the right direction to keep commerce here and to attract new industry.

What is just as disturbing as the tax extension is the fact that it appears the Governor now does not plan to cutback in this state's skyrocketing welfare costs despite the fact that he indicated in his "State of the State" message he would do so and has been telling business leaders this would be the case. He talks of "tightening controls" on welfare spending, but this kind of talk has been around for years, and nothing of significance has taken place. However the Governor is not talking about the cuts in welfare which the people of this state are demanding that county legislatures are demanding, and that county executives around the state are urging.

In order to save local taxpayers dollars on property taxes, the Governor is going to have to address himself to the welfare problem. In my talks with business leaders throughout the state, they say the number one problem is the welfare costs. I cannot understand why Mr. Carey is not addressing himself to those problems.

The terrible truth may very well be that instead of cuts in welfare the budget could reflect an increase in the welfare programs in the state. This is extremely puzzling to me because the Governor, over the past few months, has made it a point to talk about welfare cuts. Has invited in county executives and other groups to discuss the problems of welfare costs but now it appears that he has sold out to a "special interest group" — the welfare recipients themselves. While it may be true that they have many votes in an upcoming gubernatorial election, I would dare say that the majority of overburdened taxpayers in this state could well off-set those votes and with a great deal more influence.

All of this points out, in my mind, that Governor Carey in the past few weeks has certainly earned his reputation of being "a master at the art of confusion." I guess if nothing else, it will be interesting to see what his bag of tricks holds when he reveals that long-awaited budget.
