Editorial

by Scott Richardson

It's that time again. The snow starts to fall and cover up all the grass. The temperature begins to drop to the freezing level. I wish winter came all year around. To most people winter is just another time of year, but to me it's a time when I like to get out and have fun.

There are many things to do in the snow, slide down hill, go snowmobiling. If you are ambitious enough you can find many things to do.

As the time passes the snow begins to melt and we have the slush and the mess of what was left of winter. So, while the snow is here, get out and make the best of it.

Nurse's News

by Stephanie Lehman

There is now a New York State regulation which requires all children entering kindergarten to be protected against mumps. A vaccine is now available. Parents should check with the family doctor to have this vaccine administered. Parents, make sure this is done before your child enters school.

Along with the mumps vaccine, a child must have a vaccine for the following: Measles (old fashioned), Rubella (German Measles), Diphtheria and Polio. For more information you may call Mrs. Charly McCormick, the School Nurse.

Mrs. McCormick would like to thank all of the students and organizations who helped her with the Christmas Baskets.

Varsity Basketball

by Scott Richardson

The boys basketball team upped its record to eight wins and three losses by defeating Houghton 59 to 49. Andover's hot hand came from sophomore Pat Atwell who pumped in 20 points. Scott Wilson and Brian Weber scored 15 and 14 points respectively.

On the next road game the Panthers came back with a 62 to 60 win over Whitesville. The Panthers, who led by as many as 17 points, had to really hustle to win the game.

Whitesville led by Dave Davis staged a last quarter surge that wasn't quite enough. Andover's high men were Pat Atwell and Scott Wilson with 20 points. Tracy Preston had 10 points.

That win upped their record to 9 wins and 3 losses.

BASKETBALL

Basketball is an exciting and interesting sport. It is played around the world and in every country. It is both a professional and inter-scholastic sport in the United States.

When I first played J.V. basketball this year I was happy. My first game made me nervous, but as it progressed, I did also. I like basketball because it takes a lot of skills & fundamentals. In high school basketball the spectators are very emotional and in a very close game it can be very physical also.

Basketball is played indoors and outdoors. Basketball is fun for everybody and gives a lot of exercise. I would like to see everybody enjoying basketball even a little bit because it is exciting and fun to watch and play or both.
